McGovern Backers Ready . . .

First Full-Scale Demo Drive Set

By DON WALON
Star Staff Writer

What may be the first full-scale Democratic presidential campaign effort in a Nebraska general election in recent memory is about to get underway.

Maxine Morrison will serve as chairman of the campaign, Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern announced Tuesday.

Hartington banker Vince Rossiter will be vice chairman. Gov. J. James Exon will serve as honorary state chairman.

Ten storefront McGovern headquarters will be opened in Omaha Wednesday.

'Out In The Field'

Ten McGovern organizers are already "out in the field" piecing together the Nebraska campaign fabric, Lou Lamberty of Omaha said Tuesday in a telephone interview.

And, within the next two weeks or so, the McGovern campaign hopes to have about 4,000 "neighborhood house" centers in operation to distribute campaign material and organize the neighborhoods of Nebraska, he said.

September will be devoted to voter registration, and a full-scale canvassing effort will begin in mid-October to locate McGovern supporters and get them to the polls.

Lamberty, together with his wife Pat, is serving as a full time, salaried co-director of the Nebraska campaign.

Never Serious Try

"The Democrats have never made a serious attempt to win Nebraska for the presidential nominee in the general election," he said.

"We don't know that it is really hopeless. It's just been written off in the past.

"We are somtimes told that we can't win in this state, that it is a Nixon stronghold, that it gave Nixon his biggest percentage of the vote in any state in 1968.

'Uncultivated Land'

"So we are crossing uncultivated land. We don't know what's there.

"But we're optimistic. We know it's a tough job, but I think we can do it."

The voter registration figures for Republicans and Democrats in Nebraska are "not that far apart," Lamberty noted.

"And we are finding that people are anxious to work for McGovern," he said. "Everywhere we go in the state, there are people who say they have been waiting for us.

Not A Guide

"So I don't think you can take the past as any kind of guide to what is going to happen in this election."

The presence of full-time, salaried campaign organizers for the Democratic presidential nominee and the pre-autumn beginning of campaign material distribution are new in Nebraska.

"We hope to have between 30 and 40 storefront headquarters outstate before long," Lamberty said.

"And you'll see signs popping up all over the state as the neighborhood houses begin to identify themselves. That will give us major visibility."

Ready To Go

All the necessary campaign material with the exception of posters — which have not yet made their way to the state from New York — are on hand or able to be printed locally, Lamberty said.

"We're ready to go," he said.

McGovern's headquarters in Lincoln is located at 136 So. 12th. Another will open soon in Havelock.

In accepting the appointment as state chairman, Mrs. Morrison recalled that "one year ago I walked with George McGovern and introduced him to people attending the Nebraska State Fair.

Compassion Needed

"My reasons for supporting him are the same today as they were one year ago. I feel America needs the leadership, the integrity, the compassion and the understanding of George McGovern."

Mrs. Morrison's husband, former Gov. Frank Morrison, now Douglas County's public defender, headed McGovern's successful Nebraska presidential primary campaign.

In a statement released from Omaha, McGovern declared: "We have a great team in Nebraska and I am confident that the entire Democratic ticket will be victorious in November."

Final Touches Put On Fair

By GORDON WINTERS

With hammers, saws, paint brushes, wrenches and sledgehammers they were putting it all together at the State Fairgrounds Tuesday.

"Of course we'll be ready," said grease-stained Derek Peyton, a 21-year-old Californian helping set up the Rampage ride on the midway.

"We can set it (the Rampage) up in two hours and fifteen minutes. No problem. It's the easiest ride on the midway, that's why I'm on it."

"We'll be ready," said S. E. Rohren of Staplehurst, who plans to show Suffolk sheep.

He shifted his toothpick to the other side of his mouth and continued, "But they're never going to have this barn ready."

"When we got here Friday night this roof was leaking all over the place. See those rolls of tarpaper up there? Well, they were going to put them on, but the horse owners complained about the smoke from the tar pot and they never did it."

"I guess we're ready," said Rudolph Andersen, a retired postal clerk who runs three "Pollyanna" food stands at the fair.

"I've been working part-time for three wteks," he said.

Rudolph said he had sold a few hamburgers and sausages Tuesday morning but that "tomorrow will really start it."

"We're about ready now," said Richard Juelfs, switching off the clipper he was using to trim his Angus heifer.

Juelfs, of the S-W Angus Ranch near Purdum, said he had arrived at the fairgrounds several days early because his cattle were "pretty green and I wanted them to get settled down and used to everything."

Lloyd Kochnen, territorial manager for Farmhand, was arranging machinery for display.

The equipment still had to be washed and touch-up paint applied in places, but Kochnen said it would be ready.

"We've still got tomorrow," he said.

All in all, fair manager Henry Brandt estimated that there were probably 8,000 people at work on the fairgrounds Tuesday.

"We're in better shape than we expected," he said, noting that since the horse races had ended in Lincoln later this year the Fair Board had to compress what had been three weeks of work into six days.

"We're putting in 24-hour days Friday and Saturday," he said.

The fair officially opens at 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Brandt had special praise for 20 inmates of the Nebraska Penitentiary who helped get things ready for the fair, the first time inmates have ever helped in preparation.

"They were twenty guys who really worked hard," he said. "They did a damn good job. I'm just real pleased with it."

Mills McGovern's Treasury Choice

. . . Standard Is $4,000 For 4

New York (AP) — George McGovern unveiled a job-oriented welfare reform proposal Tuesday — more conventional than the discarded plan to allow $1,000 for each person — and also said the conservative Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., is his choice for Treasury secretary.

But in the same speech in New York's financial district, the Democratic presidential candidate proposed a $22 billion set of tax reforms, including an end to the time-hallowed practice of taxing capital gains at a lower rate than other income. (More on Page 3.)

The McGovern package, unwrapped for the New York Society of Security Analysts, would bear down hard on investment income that now enjoys preferred tax treatment. But, he said, "no American whose income comes from wages and salaries would pay one penny more in federal taxes than he does now."

Polite Reception

McGovern got a polite though not tumultuous reception from the investment men and a round of cheers, mingled with some boos, as he boarded his automobile outside.

McGovern's family income standard would be $4,000 for four persons. The House-passed bill would set it at $2,400. But, declaring that "jobs are the cornerstone of my policy," McGovern also proposed:

—The $10 billion federal investment in private industry contracts he has already called for.

—A $6 billion program of public service jobs at all levels of government to give employment to a million breadwinners supporting 3.5 million persons.

—Extension and increase of Social Security benefits to care for three million persons who, he said,, must rely at least in part on welfare. The minimum benefit, now $85 a month, would be increased to $150. Payments to the blind and disabled also would be raised to $150.

The House passed welfare bill would set the figure at $130 for these two categories. Provisions for disability retirement and for payments to some orphans would be eased under McGovern's plan.

Wrong War Ended

Saying that "Richard Nixon ended the wrong war, the war on joblessness, hunger and poverty," McGovern contended that his proposals would cut welfare rolls, now 15 million, by 30% by 1975.

The mention of Mills as Treasury head in a McGovern administration came as a last minute addition to McGovern's prepared speech.

Mills, an Arkansas Democrat, has been chairman for 15 years of the House Ways and Means Committee, where all tax and welfare legislation originates. Considered a fiscal conservative, he staged a low-key campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination and was widely believed to be one of the Southerners who tried to halt McGovern's preconvention drive for the nomination. He is now a candidate for re-election to the house.

$55 Billion

McGovern said the $22 billion additional annual revenues, to be brought in by the tax reforms when they are fully in effect in 1975, plus $30 billion he would save from the defense budget, would more than pay for the additional cost incurred by his programs.

The defense cuts also would be made in stages, he said,, while preserving "a military system capable of destroying any adversary 20 times over."

The tax changes would all be phased in over a two-or three-year period.

Loan Approved

Washington (UPI) — The Export-Import Bank approved a $3.5 million direct loan and will guarantee a matching credit from other sources for the purchase of a Boeing 727-200 jetliner by Royal Air Maroc, Morocco's government-owned airline.

Mining, Bombing To Go On, Nixon Says

San Clemente, Calif. (AP) — Specifically ruling out any "election eve tactic," President Nixon declared Tuesday that U.S. bombing and mining of North Vietnam will continue unabated until there is a breakthrough in peace negotiations.

In a news conference shortly after the White House announced he was cutting U.S. troop strength in Vietnam by 12,000 men in the next three months, the President also vowed that as long as "there is one prisoner of war in Vietnam or one missing in action not accounted for," there will be U.S. forces in Vietnam.

Standing on a red brick sidewalk beneath the hot sun at his oceanside home adjacent to the Western White House, the President fielded questions for 40 minutes on a range of subjects, saying:

—He is confident no one presently employed at the White House or in his administration was involved in the bungled attempt to bug Democratic National Headquarters. He said there would be no coverup and that "we want the air cleared . . . as soon as possible."

—There have been technical violations by both his own campaign and that of the Democrats in the handling of campaign funds. But he voiced confidence in his campaign's finance chairman Maurice Stans.

—He seeks a "clear mandate" in the November election and he wants "a new Congress" more responsive to his proposals for "reform that works."

—He believes that those who deserted the United States or dodged the draft to avoid Vietnam duty "have to pay a penalty . . . before they can obtain amnesty or a pardon."

Refused To Comment

Nixon again refused to comment on past or future negotiations with the North Vietnamese but said the "long and difficult and costly" war has "reached a point where it should be brought to an end.

"We have made every reasonable negotiating proposal that we can," he said, adding that the South Vietnamese "by heroic efforts" had blunted the Communist offensive.

"Under these circumstances," he said, "we believe that this is the time for a negotiated settlement. If the enemy does not feel that way, then we are prepared to go on . . . to continue the training of the South Vietnamese . . . so that they, by themselves, can defend their country . . ."

No 'Election Politics'

Speaking of his decision to cut authorized Vietnam troop strength from the present 39,000 to 27,000 in the next three months, Nixon said he would not make another troop level announcement until late in November "because we are not going to play election politics with this next withdrawal, or announcement I should say, because I am not suggesting that there will be another withdrawal."

Returning from the West Coast to the Pentagon, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird told the newsmen in Washington the 27,000-man level as of Dec. 1 will not be the residual force expected to remain in Vietnam until a peace settlement is negotiated or all U.S. war prisoners are freed by the North Vietnamese.

This indicated further troop reductions below the 27,000.

At a brief news conference Laird said the United States will continue to furnish air, logistics and advisory help to the South Vietnamese with the 27,000-man force.

More Turnovers

He also said that the United States will continue to turn over air and logistics functions to the South Vietnamese in the continuing Vietnamization program.

Sen. George McGovern, campaigning in New York Tuesday, said President Nixon's plan to cut U.S. troop strength in South Vietnam by 12,000 men endangers American servicemen remaining in the Southeast Asia country.

Zumberge To Recommend Approval Of Reassignment For Prof. B. Evans

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

University of Nebraska-Lincoln Chancellor James Zumberge is recommending that the NU Board of Regents approve a reassignment for Prof. Bert Evans to the department of economics with a promotion to the rank of associate professor.

The move would also include a salary increase for Evans, the assistant professor of agricutural economics who was granted a hearing last spring on charges that he had suffered discrimination in matters related to salary, promotions and working conditions.

The academic freedom and tenure committee, a faculty panel which conducted the hearings, recommended that Evans be considered for a pay hike, promotion and reassignment.

In an interview Tuesday, Zumberge said his own recommendations were based on that committee's report.

Zumberge called it the "most obvious solution' since it was recommended by a "duly constituted peer group" which "followed due process to the letter."

"This is a recommendation I can support," he said.

Under the proposal, Evans would be moved from the East Campus to the City Campus, where he will be assigned to the department of economics.

Economics Chairman Wallace Peterson said Evans will be assigned to teaching duties for two-thirds of his time and to the Bureau of Business Research for the other third.

Evans will teach introductory economics this academic year, said Peterson, who added Evans' duties in the Bureau of Business Research have yet to be finalized.

Evans himself was out of the state Tuesday.

Peterson said the department's personnel committee had been asked to consider Evans for a promotion based on his record.

"We agreed his record justified the rank," said Peterson.

He said he was satisfied that Evans will be a "productive and creative scholar" in the department.

The reassignment, if approved by the regents, will include a pay raise from Evans" former $13,600 on a 12-month basis to $14,100 on a nine-month basis.

Erwin Goldenstein, chairman of the academic freedom and tenure committee, said the committee had reviewed the recommendation Tuesday and concluded it satisfied the committee's concerns.

"The three basic elements we recommended are fulfiilled by Zumberge's offer," said Goldenstein.

Goldenstein's committee heard a wide range of testimony in the case, ranging from claims by many of Evans' Agriculture College colleagues that he was disruptive and destructive to praise from other witnesses who argued Evans was effective in his work as a specialist in rural community development in the cooperative extension service.

Zumberge's recommendation culminates a series of talks between Evans and the chancellor's office that began after the faculty committee released its report in May.

Spying On Civilians Began In 1940

Washington (UPI) — Army intelligence agents amassed dossiers on millions of American civilians in a massive, uncoordinated surveillance operation dating from the eve of World War II to the early 1970s, a Senate subcommittee said Tuesday.

In a report growing out of its investigation of Army spying and analyzing sample files furnished by the Justice Department, the constitutional rights subcommittee said Army surveillance was "far more extensive than first imagined" and served "no legitimate (or even illegitimate) military purpose."

"The persons listed include both the great and the obscure," it said. "Included among them are priests lawyers, singers, comedians and politicians" as well as persons holding 257 occupations — from bartenders to conductors of both trains and orchestras.

The report said no incident was too small to escape the Army's notice. Intelligence files took note of a schoolboy's letter to the Soviet Embassy seeking information for a term paper and of a Baltimore demonstration by six Negroes protesting the biting of a young girl by a police dog.

According to the report, the Army began collecting the information in 1940 to prepare for quelling civilian disturbances and protecting military installations. Activity soared following the Newark, N.J., riots in 1967 and continued until the Defense Department, facing congressional criticism, ordered a halt in 1971.

Despite destruction orders from Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird and others, the report expressed doubt that all of the Army's files "of fragmentary, incorrect and irrelevant information" have been destroyed. It said the directives to burn the files were often evaded.

No effort was made to estimate how many names the files contained.

New York Times News Summary

12,000-Man Reduction In Vietnam Announced

(c) New York Times News Service

San Clemente, Calif. — The White House announced Tuesday a further 12,000-man troop reduction in Vietnam to bring American authorized strength there to 27,000 men by Dec. 1, not counting about 80,000 airmen and sailors now stationed in Thailand and with the 7th Fleet off Vietnam. President Nixon also declared that any announcement on additional withdrawals would come only after the November election because he was not "going to play election politics with this." (More on Page 1.)

Warships Shell North

Saigon — In a belated combat communique, the U.S. Navy announced that a four-vessel task force, with the commander of the 7th Fleet aboard, shelled a fuel dump, gun sites and other targets in the Haiphong area of North Vietnam last Sunday and, on the way back, destroyed two North Vietnamese torpedo boats. (More on Page 2.)

Reform Plans Unveiled

New York — Sen. George McGovern went to Wall Street to unveil tough new tax reform and modified welfare reform proposals and promised that if elected president he would name Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, a favorite of fiscal conservatives, to be his secretary of the Treasury. The Democratic candidate implored investors to accept his program out of economic self-interest and in a spirit of "social responsibility." (More on Page 1.)

Auto Price Hikes Denied

Washington — The Price Commission has denied, at least temporarily, requests for price increases on their 1973 models by the General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. But it offered to consider new applications for mark-ups after Sept. 30, along with still pending requests by Chrysler and American Motors.

Koreans Talking

Seoul — North and South Korea are opening full-dress Red Cross talks with a view toward easing the plight of families torn apart by Korea's separation.

Spying 'Useless'

Washington — A Senate judiciary subcommittee holds that Army surveillance of civilians in the late 1960s, while "utterly useless" to the Army in countering potential civil disturbances, had been "far more extensive" than previously thought. (More on Page 1.)

Luggage To Be Inspected

New York — American Airlines and Trans World Airways, two of the country's largest air carriers, have become the first in interstate traffic to announce that they will start inspecting purses, briefcases and all other hand luggage of their passengers. One of the reasons for the move was said to be the desire to calm public hijack jitters that appear to have cut into air travel this summer.

'Daring Raid' Staged By Four Navy Ships

Saigon (AP) — Four U.S. warships have staged "a daring raid into strongly defended enemy territory" near the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong and pounded shore installations, the Navy said Tuesday.

Vice Adm. J. L. Holloway III, the U.S. 7th Fleet commander, went along aboard the heavy cruiser Newport News.

It, with a destroyer, engaged two enemy torpedo boats. A direct hit from the cruiser destroyed one, and the destroyer Rowan set the other afire. A Navy plane finished off the torpedo boat.

The action occurred Sunday. The other warships were the guided missile cruiser Providence and the destroyer Robison. The four ships shelled a fuel depot two miles southwest of Haiphong, a barracks 11 miles to the southeast, and coastal defenses which returned the fire.

The Robison fought a duel with a coastal battery. Her five-inch guns caused an explosion ashore. The destroyer took shrapnel from a near miss but was undamaged, the Navy said.

The four warships were paying a return visit to the Haiphong area. They first raided the area May 9, the day U.S. mines were laid in enemy harbors for the first time.

Navy spokesmen said they knew of no special reason for the attack by two cruisers and two destroyers except that they hit valid military targets. Observers interpreted it as a show of strength.

Holloway congratulated the ships, saying they proved the fleet could apply pressure when and where it chose.

"The enemy has once again been reminded of the mobility of the fleet," Holloway added.

There were no American casualties in the raid, the Navy said. A spokesman reported the ships did not penetrate the American minefields.

In South Vietnam, the battle for the Que Son Valley in the north focused on a scrub-covered 300-foot hill commanding the east approach to the district town of Que Son.

Boulder Hill, so named for its crowning row of rocks, changed hands twice in 24 hours of bloody fighting, Associated Press correspondent Dennis Neeld reported.

South Vietnamese 2nd Division infantrymen advanced up the slope Monday behind a scorching barrage of bombs, shells and napalm, flushing out their network of bunkers.

Capture of the hill enabled the government forces to remove their wounded from Que Son, 1½ miles to the west, on tanks and armored personnel carriers.

The enemy crept back up the hill during the night and launched a determined counterattack behind mortars and artillery that pushed the South Vietnamese off the hill and closed the road again.

In Cambodia, government forces were overrun at the town of Ponley, 60 miles north of Phnom Penh on Highway 5, the rice road to the agricultural northwest, the high command reported.

The enemy forces thus extended their control over a 15-mile stretch of the highway. The high command said the 80-100 soldiers in the Ponley garrison were missing and presumed dead except for one soldier who reached safety.

In Laos, the U.S. mission lifted a one-day news blackout and reported U.S. helicopters had ferried four more regiments into the battle for the Plain of Jars, 103 miles north of Vietiane, the capital.

This raised the number of government troops attacking from the west, north and south to 8,000. They were reported meeting little resistance.

End To Draft In July Is Disputed By Hebert

Washington (UPI) — Chairman F. Edward Hebert of the House Armed Services Committee Tuesday disputed President Nixon's prediction that the draft could be ended by next July.

The Louisiana Democrat said many men enlist in the armed forces solely as a means of avoiding conscription and that elimination of the draft would render the military unable to meet its manpower requirements.

"I still feel that the only way to get volunteers is with the power to induct," Hebert said in an telephone interview from his New Orleans home.

"Based on my experience, the only way to get a volunteer army is to draft."

Hebert and other members of his committee — which has originated most of the draft legislation in recent years — say that by boosting pay and benefits the administration can reach a goal of "zero draft calls." But this, they point out, is not the same as an all-volunteer army.

Hebert, who has enjoyed a close working and personal relationship with Nixon, was reluctant to criticize the President's intention not to seek a renewal of induction authority that runs out on June 30, 1973.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird told a news conference Monday that there were only two reasons why Nixon's goal could not be reached. One would be if Congress failed to enact the special armed services pay bill Nixon has proposed. The second would be if public respect for the military falls to the point where it seriously reduces enlistments. Laird said he was confident neither would occur.

Refinancing Begun

New York (UPI — Universal Container Corp. said it had entered in the first stage of a multimillion-dollar refinancing program with a consortium of banks led by A. J. Armstrong Co. Amount of the refinancing was not disclosed.

South Korean Group To Start Talks With North

Seoul (UPI) — A South Korean Red Cross delegation arrived in the North Korean capital of Pyongyang Tuesday for the first official conference between the two sides since the Korean war.

The 34-member Seoul delegation drove to Pyongyang in a 30-car convoy for the talks scheduled to open Wednesday.

The two sides will discuss plans for reuniting families separated by conflict on the peninsula dating to World War II when the Soviet Union occupied North Korea and left it with a Communist government.

$750-Million Plan To Focus On Risky Grade Crossings

Columbus, Ohio (AP)—A $750 million program over the next 10 years to eliminate dangerous grade crossings was announced Tuesday by U.S. Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe.

There are 220,000 grade crossings in the country, he said, the scene of 32 collisions a day. The accidents cause 1,500 deaths and 7,000 injuries a year.

Volpe, speaking at the fourth annual National Conference on Highway-Railroad Grade Crossing safety at Ohio State University, said the program calls for upgrading about 3,000 crossings a year over the next 10 years at a cost of $75 million a year.

This would mean about three times the current rate of installation," he said. "Completion of this program would eliminate 4,000 motor vehicle-train collisions annually and would result in saving 500 lives a year."

McGovern's New Plan Causes Little Surprise

New York (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern's new economic proposals appeared to have caused little surprise Tuesday among financial analysts and economists.

The Democratic presidential candidate unveiled his revamped program before a meeting of the New York Society of Security Analysts.

While McGovern appeared to have won few converts among the business and securities analysts at the meeting, other experts interviewed later credited McGovern with developing what seemed to them to be a more realistic program.

"It is obvious that at last some hard-nosed realists have been hard at work on the senator's positions," said Don Conlon, vice president and chief economist with Dean Witter & Co., an investment firm.

'It Adds Up'

"The arithmetic adds up reasonably well, allowing, of course, for political haziness," Conlon said.

"It is obvious that the senator realizes the horrible mistakes of his earlier economic proposals," said economist Pierre Rinfret, president of Rinfret-Boston Associations and an economic campaign advisor to President Nixon. "He is in the process of abandoning them and trying to find a new position, just as the Republicans said he would have to do."

Robert Johnson, an economist for the brokerage firm of Paine, Webber, Jackson and Curtis, noted that McGovern made no mention of his original $1,000-per-American income supplement and said he was not surprised.

Johnson said it was "very difficult to find any fault" with the candidate's other proposals, but wondered if McGovern's public service program could be financed if individual taxes drop to a maximum of 48% as proposed.

'Make-Work'

Economist Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago said McGovern's new $4,000 minimum income welfare proposal "will reduce the incentive" of ordinary taxpayers. He called McGovern's plan for a $6 billion public service employment program a "make-work program" which conceals the problem of maintaining a productive economy.

Prof. Paul Samuelson of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, winner of the 1970 Nobel Prize for economics and a McGovern supporter, said McGovern "has come to concrete terms with what is important and what is unimportant."

"His tax package is much more feasible than it was before. If Congress would take the whole tax package, it would be hard to find any appreciable group in the community that would not be better off," Samuelson said.

Good Politics

"It was a good political speech, but economcially without fundamental foundation," said Maurice Benjamin of Benjamin, Hill and Co., one of some 160 specialists who attended the McGovern speech.

"He spelled out his position very clearly," said Thomas H. Wilkins, portfolio committee chairman of Royal Globe Insurance Co., who also attended. "It's going to hurt him in certain segments, but I'm not a political analyst."

Arthur M. Moren Jr., investment officer for New York's Chemical Bank, said after listening to McGovern's speech that the South Dakotan still had not changed his tax proposals enough to win much support on Wall Street.

Moren added, however, that McGovern's announcement that he would nominate Rep. Wilbur Mills as treasury secretary was received enthusiastically. Moren said there was "great respect for Mills in the financial community."

Price Commission Denies Auto Price Boosts Asked

Washington (AP) — The Price Commission Tuesday denied already-trimmed price increases sought by Ford and General Motors on 1973 models.

The commission left open the door to renewed requests from the two auto giants later this fall.

Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson Jr. said the requests were denied because the increases could result in the firms exceeding the profit margin ceiling established by commission regulations.

A General Motors spokesman said his firm was aware of the ceiling when it applied for the increases and supplied all the informaton requested by the commission.

"That information indicates that these price increases are qualified under Price Commission regulations," the spokesman said

There was no immediate comment from Ford.

Ford originally applied for an average increase of $91.52 for new models. GM had asked for an average boost of $85.

Tax Proposal Unveiled

New York (AP) — Democratic presidential nominee George S. McGovern unveiled a $22 billion tax reform proposal Tuesday.

The tax changes, which would be phased in two or three years, along with McGovern's estimates of the effect on revenues, would include:

—Taxing capital gains at full rates, instead of the present system of taxing half by charging a maximum of 25% on the first $50,000. Annual revenue pickup beginning in 1975, $8 billion.

—Taxing capital gains when the owner dies, with exemptions for surviving spouses and for small estates. At present heirs receive property at its increased value without liability for tax on the gain. Revenue pickup, $4 billion.

—A 50% federal subsidy on the interest on bonds issued by state and local governments, if these units forgo their privilege of issuing bonds whose interest is tax free. This would cost the government $300 million McGovern said, but would be a more effective way to help the local government and would reduce the tax benefit used largely by upper bracket investors.

—Eliminate the precentage depletion allowance for oil and other minerals above the initial cost and also end the privilege of charging off in a single year the cost of drilling a well. Revenue gain, $2.2 billion. If subsidies to encourage mineral exploration were needed, they would be provided outside the tax system.

—Repeal speeded up business depeciation rules enacted last year. Gain, $4.2 billion.

—Ultimately, revise the investment credit on business machinery and equipment purchases, so as to confine it to purchases that would not have been made without this stimulus. Gain, $2.5 billion.

—Eliminate real estate writeoff and allowances that amount to tax shelters, but again with subsidies as needed to encourage low-cost housing. Gain, $1.1 billion.

—Repeal provisions for special tax treatment of income earned abroad through domestic import subsidiaries or controlled foreign countries. Gain, $1.3 billion.

—Eliminate deduction of losses on farms used as tax shelters by nonfarmers. Gain, $100 million.

—Strengthen regulations against deduction of interest on loans used to make capital investment for future gain not immediately taxed. Revenue pickup, $300 million.

—Substitution of a graduated "accessions tax" for the present estate and gift taxes. The tax rate would depend on the amount received by a beneficiary, not the total size of the estate. There would be exemptions for surviving husbands and wives, small estates and family businesses. McGovern said the tax would not increase revenues in early years, but would later.

He offered also three proposals that would soften the impact of some of his tax revisions.

One would reduce the top individual income tax rate from 70% to 48%. The 70% rate, McGovern said, is a fiction because, thanks to loopholes, top bracket taxpayers average paying only 32%.

McGovern also would allow incomes swollen in a single year by capital gains or large bequests to be spread out for tax purposes over several years.

Finally, he proposed a $15 billion federal contribution to the cost of local schools, an estimated one-third of the total cost, to relieve the local property tax.

Export Firms Reap Profits In Personnel Shifts—Dechant

By BERNARD BRENNER

Washington (UPI) — A cozy private club atmosphere in which officials shuttle between high government posts and big grain export firms has helped some companies reap windfall profits from deals like the recent big wheat sales to Russia, a farm leader charged Tuesday.

Tony T. Dechant, president of the National Farmers Union (NFU), issued a statement here calling on President Nixon and Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz to end "vest pocket secrecy" in grain export deals and to halt personnel shifts between the Agriculture Department and grain firms.

Without naming specific firms, Dechant said "large wheat exporting companies have been privy to advance information concerning the extent of government subsidy and credit arrangements on export sales of wheat. The benefit of this information has made windfall profits possible hrough (1) purchase of wheat before prices went up and (2) speculation in the wheat futures market.

"The private club atmosphere that has been created by grain trade officials moving in and out of the Department of Agriculture and administration constitutes a conflict of interests of the worst kind," Dechant said. He said two grain firm officials recently took administration jobs while two high Agriculture Department officials, including former assistant secretary Clarence D. Palmby, had joined major grain firms.

Public Comments

Dechant's statement followed a series of public comments on the aftermath of the big Russian wheat sales, including an announcement by bakers that they wanted permission to raise bread prices because heavy exports had driven up domestic wheat prices.

Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., announced Monday that — while making no charges — he has asked the Agriculture Department and the Civil Service Commission to see if they found any signs of interest conflicts involved in the job shifts by Palmby and another former agriculture official, Clifford G. Pulvermacher.

Both Palmby and Pulvermacher, however, have already directly denied involvement in sales to Russia by their new grain company employers.

The grain trade and wheat price controversies arose after a series of events in which U.S. negotiators, including Palmby, went to Moscow early this year to pave the way for hoped-for sales of U.S. farm products to Russia.

In June, Palmby resigned to take a post with Continental Grain Co. of New York, which has been active in Soviet sales and which other sources said had been seeking to employ him long before the Soviet deal.

In early July, the White House announced an agreement under which U.S. government credit would help underwrite private trade sales to Russia, then expected to reach $750 million in three years.

After the agreement was announced, however, Soviet orders poured in at a far higher rate than expected. First-year sales of grains and soybeans combined are now expected to reach at least $1 billion, with government officials estimating about two-thirds of the business will be in wheat.

Sales rose so fast, in fact, the government moved last week to dampen them by steps to reduce wheat export subsidies. The reduction, in effect, increases the export price which is below the domestic price.

Dechant, in his statement, also noted Pulvermacher's move to Bunge Inc. after retiring from the Agriculture Department and to the shift of William Pearce from Cargill Inc. to a post in the White House Trade Office. The farm leader, in his list of government-industry job shuffling, also cited George Shanklin, as an Agriculture Department official who worked for a time for Bunge and then returned to the department.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

A milestone of sorts has been reached in Lincoln with agreement on a new program of classroom leasing in private schools by the Lincoln School District. The lease program will permit Title I federal funds to flow directly to the benefit of children in private schools.

In the past, this program has been a point of conflict between private and public school interests with limited service to private students provided only in the public schools, a cumbersome arrangement from the private student point of view. A private school spokesman has said that "this is the first time since 1965 that our children have been treated according to the law."

You should understand that it has been entanglements with state law that have created the problem in the past. While public school officials may not have been philososphically enthusiastic about extending remedial teaching programs to the private school system, they have had to comply with what they considered the limitations of the law to be.

The point which has now been reached in Lincoln was made possible through State Supreme Court action on the so-called Hartington case, an arrangement in Hartington, Nebr., which was declared legal and which has served as the framework for the new Lincoln program.

The Hartington arrangement, a leasing situation, remained within the limitations of our state constitution which forbids public funds passing to private schools. Even the leasing program might be ended by the next Legislature.

The Legislature, by virtue of Amendment 16 approved by state voters in the last election, can allow public school systems to provide Title I programs in private schools without the formality of classroom leasing. This would simplify the process and allow the very nominal leasing costs to be put directly into services for students.

The whole thrust of this program is that we are talking about students, without discrimination as to private or public schools. Very obviously, there remain many who do not buy this concept whether it is legal under state and federal constitutions or not.

This is partly why the new arrangement in Lincoln is such a milestone. We would hope that this arrangement would prove the folly of such discrimination, a condition which often boils down to little else but prejudice.

When all is said and done, The Lincoln public-private school arrangement on remedial programs will benefit a wider range of students than the program has in the past. It means that more young people will have the opportunity of improving themselves with special classroom assistance.

In the past, private school students have not had the advantage of such programs except on a very limited basis. What has it profited the community for these young people to have been denied this service?

It has profited the community nothing at all, but rather, has cost the community in terms of lost human resources. It has meant a sacrifice of human potential, as all forms of discrimination do, and that is the heaviest price a society can pay for anything.

We can talk all we want about ecology but if we waste our human resources, we are untrue to our humanity. At least in this one limited area of things, that waste of human resources has come to an end.

Hopefully, it will signal a new era of understanding and cooperation among public and private educational interests. Some will undoubtedly talk fearfully of the precedent we have set for massive private educational aid in the future.

We do not believe this is going to happen. To the contrary, private education will remain as it always has a major financial responsibility of the parents of private school students. Rather then fear, we would hope that new understanding and cooperation will spring from the agreement that has now been reached in Lincoln.

The Dark At The Top Of The Stairs

Winning Crime War?

One might conclude from the 1971 uniform crime report of the Federal Bureau of Investigation that we are winning the war against crime. Total crime in Nebraska was up a little over 1970 in 1971, although violent crimes declined and property crimes more than made up the loss.

Nationally, crime increased in 1971 over 1970 at a rate of 7%, encouraging in light of the fact that the rise in 1970 was 11% above 1969. Encouraging, too, is the fact that violent crimes were slowed in their rate of increase in 1971 as compared to 1970.

But there is little cause for jubilation. Crime overall is still rising faster than the rate of population growth. Also, the 1971 figure would seem to be helped considerably by a 2% rise in 1971 over 1970 in auto theft. Auto theft went up 6% in 1970 over 1969.

Thus, it would seem that a sharp falloff in the annual rate of growth of this crime has made the overall rate of increase look very good. In some areas of violent crime, the rate of increase for 1971 was greater than both 1970 and 1969, with 1968 still standing as the year of highest rate of increase.

The figures are such that there is room to draw little comfort from them. It would take only a very small upsurge in crime, relatively speaking, for the record to look as ominous in the future as it has at any time in the past.

There is no way of concluding at this point that we have turned any corner in crime control. We have done a little better in 1971 than at times in the past but is this a permanent trend or just a passing flash in the pan?

Looking at 1971, we still see many millions of dollars of property loss through crime and the arrest of 8.6 million persons for criminal acts. Arrests for narcotics violations have grown a staggering 469% in the period 1966-1971. The figures clearly show an appalling toll of the human and economic resources of the nation as a result of crime, leaving us a challenge that is little if any less today than it has ever been.

The crime figures may give us some encouragement but they certainly afford no comfort or complacency.

A letter that appeared on July 15 in the Star being a defense of the Honorable Carl Curtis, needs to be corrected in part, at least, to help the people of Nebraska make their own decisions at voting time in November.

The first sentence of the second paragraph especially intrigued me. It said, "It so happens that Senator Curtis was the original sponsor of the Social Security act when it became law years ago. He has supported every reasonable raise in Social Security benefits since that time," the letter continues, adding that a 20% raise is not a reasonable raise when the President is "trying to hold down inflation in wages and the things we buy."

A bit more investigation into Senator Curtis' life and voting habits would probably disclose some more things for the benefit of that misinformed letter writer; but I believe the story of the Social Security Act should be enough for now. Knowing that Mr. Curtis has voted against any Social Security increases in the past several years and that he'd been in Nebraska politics a good many years, I began to research a number of facts which I believe should be interesting to many voters.

Various bills to protect the old and the unemployed, as well as other aspects of security had been introduced in Congress by several senators and congressmen in the early 1930's, but the amount of money to finance the project seemed so staggering that most legislators shied away from it entirely. In 1933, Senator Wagner of New York, and Representative David J. Lewis of Maryland placed an unemployment insurance bill before their respective houses, without success.

At that time, in '33, Upton Sinclair, of Pasadena, California started an organization called E.P.I.C. (End Poverty in California) which concerned pensions; but he was labeled a communist by his foes; Dr. Townsend, with his famous Townsend Plan, didn't fare any better in the criticism. Many people favored the Townsend Plan, with its proposal to give every person over 60 $200 per month, with the stipulation that they spend all of it, thus boosting the economy of the U.S. But its financing would come from everyone else in the form of a steep sales tax. Economists pointed out that prices would rise exhorbitantly. Finally the plan faded away to insignificance, and more concrete talks and figures replaced it.

On January 17, 1935, the Social Security Bill was introduced into Congress jointly by Senator Wagner and Rep. Lewis, who was joined in his behalf by Robert L. Doughton of Georgia. Mr. Doughton, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, had been either indifferent or strictly opposed to the previous bill. However, he also attached his name to the draft, apparently to gain credit in the public eye for an act which he felt would sooner or later become law. As chairman, he pushed it through the Ways and Means Committee, with administration help (which of course was Democratic). Some considered the course illogical, rather than going through the progressive Labor Committee, as normally might have been done.

When the bill came up before the Senate for action June 18 and 19, 1935, some changes were made in the bill, as reported out from committee. One, the power of the Social Security Board to sell voluntary old age annuities to the some 22 million gainfully employed persons not covered by the compulsory old age insurance was eliminated. Senator Lonergan of Connecticut, a state which is the home of many private insurance companies, led the movement to strike that feature, arguing that the private insurance companies were beginning to develop the business of selling old age annuities and that the government should not enter competition. This argument prevailed despite the reading into the record of a letter from President Parkinson of the Equitable Life Assurance Co. that he welcomed the plan because he believed it would popularize the idea of insurance just as the War Risk Insurance Act had done.

Nebraska also has been claimed to be the home of several insurance companies.

Such an opinion as Mr. Parkinson had was not shared by Mr. Curtis, who is known to have told at least one group of insurance writers in Nebraska (before the Social Security Act went into effect), "You people will find that (with passage of this act) it will be increasingly hard to sell insurance."

Sound like he was or is in favor of old age benefits?

But Mr. Curtis was not a sponsor, as his supporter so ardently states. He would have had to be a congressman or a senator in order to be a sponsor of such a bill that became law in August of 1935, after President Roosevelt signed the bill on August 14.

The files of the old Lincoln papers did not mention Mr. Curtis in any way before or after the election of November 3, 1936. But the name of his honorable opponent, Terry Carpenter, was there. Terry ran as a Democrat against the powerhouse, George Norris, for the Senate. The Republican candidate was swamped; Carpenter received over 90,000 votes while Norris as a petition candidate got over 245,000 votes.

No mention was made of Mr. Curtis being in the political arena until the election of 1938. In the general election of November 8, he defeated Charles G. Binderup, over three years too late to get in on the Social Security fight.

Time and research would probably tell some more about Mr. Curtis, and his declared vote against the big raise that Congress gave itself a while back. I didn't read where he turned any of it back, as George Romney of Nixon's cabinet tried to do with his.

But from where I stand, it appears that Mr. Curtis was not in favor of Social Security, is not and may never be in favor of it. Something for his older constituents to think about.

End Of The Draft

Young people throughout the land might well rejoice at the news that the Nixon administration plans to end the draft next July, assuming the President is re-elected. While such an announcement in some areas of national concern might be considered campaign talk, the business about the draft would appear to be a matter of reality.

For years, the President has expressed the hope of ending the draft and the status of military life has been substantially improved to further that objective. The draft itself has been changed in such a way as to lead ultimately to its demise.

When and if that happy day comes, the entire nation will rejoice. Certainly, forced military service is about as popular as the plague. It flies directly into the face of the traditional individual freedoms that are the guarantee of our people.

Hopefully, another element in the situation is the status of international affairs, U.S. relations around the world are far from perfect but the climate has improved in the past few years. We do not have the assurance of peace that Nixon says is his goal but there are encouraging signs that we might some day reach that point.

We have an international state of affairs that at least puts a little less strain on our military status than has been the case during most of the 1960's. There is some room for hope today that the military forces of the past will not be as essential in the future.

Elimination of the draft raises a question of a professional military organization that could constitute a threat to our established form of government but this is a risk we ought to be willing to take. The announcement at this time may have political repercussions but Nixon would seem to be entitled to whatever gain might accrue to him because of this development.

Not Buying

Blair, Neb.

The "Nixon National Convention" is now history. It was rigged from the beginning and from the top and right down to the vaunted "rat pack" led by Sammy Davis Jr. Only Judas No. 2, the Texas John Connally, wasn't paraded before the vassals.

The office of the president of the United States deserves and has my respect. The man has to earn it and Mr. Nixon hasn't.

This so-called Republican National Convention comes through as an arrogant and open attempt at one-party take-over. This is the way, believe it or not, that totalitarian states are born, innocently enough. Not a whisper of "join the Republican party." Just, "Come one, come all, to follow your noble leader down the primrose path to whatever I choose to offer you."

I'm not buying it and I hope the Democrats don't. The Republicans, a fading party, may be desperate enough to feel they have to do so.

How It's Done

Battle Creek, Neb.

Now we know how it's done in the Nixon administration.

It seems that dairymen who contributed $65,000 to Nixon's reelection campaign got milk supports raised from $4.66 to $4.93 per hundredweight.

Then there is the matter of $400,000 allegedly paid to the GOP by ITT as part of a settlement with the Justice Department.

It appears there is no end to the goodies we can receive if we just pour enough cash into Nixon's campaign coffers.

After viewing the GOP convention-goers in Miami sipping champagne aboard their expensive yachts, we hard-working, tax-paying, middle-class citizens better believe there is no hope of closing tax loopholes for the rich and powerful if Nixon is reelected.

Municipal Budget

Lincoln, Neb.

I did not have the opportunity to voice my feelings on the municipal budget.

In total the budget is a reflection of the mayor's effort to keep spending down, while at the same time giving the people of Lincoln a city they can be proud of. In this budget, the administration has consistently kept increased spending to a minimum while actually realizing a decrease in expenditures in some departments.

It is worthy of note that various department heads took the time to justify their budgets to various taxpayers, including myself.

Perhaps hearings on the budget could be held over two sessions rather than one, as some valuable insights were not presented due to lack of time.

The people of Lincoln can be proud of their public servants, especially for the cooperation and courtesy they would have received in the Finance Department, Law Department, and especially Robert Sawdon in the Police Department.

Danger Spots

Lincoln, Neb.

On the west side of South 48th Street, just north of Old Cheney Road, and in the triangle at 48th and Old Cheney Road, there is a season-long growth of weeds and weed trees that nearly eliminates the view of drivers approaching Old Cheney Road. These weeds are all on city property and the city hasn't once removed them this year.

Before this area was taken into the city limits, it was properly maintained by the county but now, even after two phone calls to the Public Works Department in the last several weeks, it has still not been cut and mowed.

This is a potentially dangerous situation and it would be a real shame if it were to take a serious accident here before something is finally done about it.

There are also weed trees on the west side of South 56th Street just north of Old Cheney Road that create a hazardous blind spot for drivers going east on Old Cheney and attempting to cross the intersection. This again is on city property that is supposed to be maintained by the city.

Surely if the county were able to maintain this area properly, the city of Lincoln should be able to!

Necessity May Drive Us To Buying Of Small Cars

WASHINGTON — This is a Banner Year for the automobile business. Total U.S. car sales in 1972 are expected to be in the 10.5 million-11 million range, with 9 million or more of domestic manufacture. Both figures would be records. In addition, imports now account for only 14% of American auto sales, as against 18.8% in August 1971. It is the first time in a decade that car imports have declined.

Detroit nevertheless has reason to feel apprehensive about the road ahead. In the next few years, the industry will come under increasing pressure to produce safer, cleaner vehicles. The cost of complying with safety and anti-pollution laws will make cars more expensive to buy. And the likelihood of a chronic gasoline shortage will make them more expensive to operate the almost inescapable conclusion is that small cars are the cars of the future.

So-called minicars already have captured a sizable share of the U.S. market — 23% in 1971, as compared with only 10% in 1968. Until recently, almost all the minicars sold in this country were such imports as Volkswagens, Toyotas, and Datsuns. But now the American Motors Gremlin, Ford Pinto, and Chevrolet Vega are helping to stem the import tide. From January to July, 1972, Americans bought 22% fewer Volkswagens than a year earlier, 3% fewer Toyotas, and 9% fewer Datsuns.

President Nixon's New Economic Policy is largely responsible for Detroit's improved competitive position. Elimination of the 7% auto excise tax, the short-lived 10% import surcharge, and devaluation of the dollar all conspired to wipe out the price advantage that imports previously had enjoyed.

Foreign auto producers probably will find the American market even more difficult to penetrate in the future. Some may write off the United States altogether is progressively more stringent safety and pollution-control standards come into force. It is reasoned that foreign manufacturers would be unable to meet the standards and still remain competitive in price.

The car of the future, with its crash-resistant frame, thick interior padding and elaborate emission-control system, will be considerably more expensive than current models. "Even small cars in 1980 are likely to cost about the same as a large automobile today," Daniel A Jedlicka stated in Harper's. American motorists thus may turn to small cars out of necessity, not choice.

Furthermore, the days of flashy styling appear to be numbered. Such mandatory requirements as uniform bumper height will tend to inhibit designers.

The growing shortage of gasoline may do more than anything else to accelerate the trend to smaller cars. A major reason for the squeeze is that consumption is up 7% over a year ago — about twice the normal rate of increase. Business Week notes that, "Behind the swelling demand are the new cars that use low-lead gasoline. With their lower compression ratios, these engines burn about 8% more fuel than cars with conventional engines."

Tre situation will grow worse, The Wall Street Journal points out, "as more and more cars are sold with low-compression engines and anti-pollution devises and as more lead-free gasoline is sold to fuel them." A decade hence, the U.S. automobile may again be what it formerly was—a luxury.

JAMES RESTON

Nixon Proclaiming Lofty Ideals And Motives But Resorting To Political Tactics And Trickery

MIAMI BEACH — At no time since he came into public life has Richard Nixon dominated American politics as he does today, and yet he is still not using his vast power and prestige to unify the nation.

The main thing being asked about him now is not whether he will win in November, but what he will do with his victory, and if his acceptance speech here is any indication of the future, we are in for four more years of mistrust and division.

It was a very odd speech. It was clearly intended to appeal beyond his party to Democrats and independents to join him in a "new majority" based on the "common ideals" and "the great principles we Americans believe in together."

But once this presidential ideal of bipartisan cooperation had been defined, Nixon descended to a slashing partisan attack that was a jumble of distortions, misleading half-truths, and downright lies.

It is simply not true, as he asserted, that the United States has "the highest rate of growth of any industrial nation," unless you jumble the figures out of all rational proportions. Japan, Germany, Canada, and Italy all have a higher growth rate now than the U.S.

Nor is it true, as he insisted, that the U.S. has the lowest rate of inflation of any of the industrial states — Canada, Germany, Italy, and Belgium have lower rates over the last four years.

George McGovern has done many foolish and careless things since he entered the presidential campaign, but to present him as a man who would add "82 million people to the welfare rolls," increase taxes by "50%," destroy the free enterprise system — "tear it down and start again" — is the same old tricky demagoguery that has stained Nixon's record in every election since the forties.

He is riding high on the low road again, and the puzzling thing is why he resorts to these destructive tactics precisely at the time when he seems to be calling for reconciliation on the basis of American ideals and principles.

Oddly, it was Spiro Agnew here in Miami Beach who reacted to his renomination with a generous and healing spirit, and Nixon who talked, not like a president far ahead against McGovern, but like an opposition leader determined to destroy the other candidate.

Nixon asked the American people to put their trust in the President, and they must if he is to govern effectively, but even at the moment of his triumph here he did not deal with them truthfully, responsibly, and nobly, but cleverly and almost contemptuously.

What is the explanation of this peculiar conduct? Nixon is not personally an arrogant man. He does have a vision of a fair and peaceful America. His personal moral standards are high and no family in recent history has behaved with more decorum than the Nixons in the White House.

But something is still missing. He proclaims ideals he does not follow in his fierce preoccupation with the tactics of political success — and he thinks, with considerable justification, that he can get away with it in a cynical age.

"A big change has come into American life," Walter Lippmann once wrote. "It is not that our behavior is demonstrably worse than it used to be. It may in many respects be considerably better . . . The big change in our time is that while our conduct may not be any worse, we are much more lax in what we think about our conduct. We are much more ready to accept and excuse the cheating that is so widespread and so common . . .

"Why is it bad to shrug off the ideal standards of honesty in politics, business and love? Because it defeats us and frustrates our lives. If we do not harden ourselves by stretching ourselves to reach upward to these not fully attainable ideals, we slump down and settle into flabbiness and footlessness and boredom . . ."

Nixon probably does not have to change his tone and tactics to win in November — though 60 days on the low road could make a big difference — but to lead and govern, and for these purposes to heal and unify the nation, there will have to be change — either in the President himself, or in the presidents in the White House.

Neither Nixon nor McGovern has the answer to all our distracting problems — therefore one or the other has to be taken largely on faith. Nobody can prove he has the answer to Vietnam or welfare or the race question at home — so in the end there must be a measure of trust both ways. And this is precisely the quality that has not really existed at the pinnacle of our national life since the days of Eisenhower.

Parks and Recreation Board Studying Plea To Give Steam Engine A Home

The Parks and Recreation Board Tuesday took under advisement a plea by railroad buffs to provide a home in one of the city parks for the soon-to-be displaced steam engine housed at the State Fairgrounds.

James Burden, Jr., of the Cornhusker Chapter of the National Railroad Historical Society, told board members at the special meeting that the retired Union Pacific locomotive 440 will have to be moved from its site near the fairground's south entrance to make way for the new University of Nebraska fieldhouse and parking lot.

Before coming to the board, Burden said his group, has unsuccessfully tried to have the engine moved to various other locations around the city, including a site near the Children's Zoo owned by the Lincoln Electric System, the Union Pacific Industrial Park and a Rock Island Railroad site.

The Fair Board first offered the locomotive to a scrap metal company, he said, but the Cornhusker Chapter intervened and asked to be given a chance to save the old engine.

Board members Clancy Woolman and Ralph Giebelhaus said they were concerned that the engine would be "junked," but added they thought the Union Pacific Railroad or other groups should provide a site.

The only suitable location for the locomotive on park property would be Pioneers Park, near the present train engine, Director of Parks and Recreation Don Smith reported.

Smith said he had "mixed emotions" on whether or not to recommend that the board accept the engine.

Although agreeing that the engine should be preserved for historical reasons, Smith cited vandalism problems, maintenance costs and the task of transporting the engine to the park if the board accepted the locomotive.

Before taking any action, board members present said they wanted to study the matter further and have the proposal to move the engine to Pioneers Park presented to the entire board at its regular Sept. 21st meeting.

City Employes Salary Hike Still Needs Council Approval

Official approval of a 5% wage increase for city employes should be forthcoming at next Monday's City Council session.

It was erroneously reported in The Star Tuesday that the council had passed the salary ordinance Monday. However, at that session the council did approve two labor contracts which call for the 5% pay raise, with an additional ½% in fringe benefits.

The council approved contracts with the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes and the Amalgamated Transit Union.

In addition to the wage increase, the council also is scheduled to give second and third readings to ordinances covering maternity leave, hours of work, the probationary period and pay ranges for city employes at next Monday's session.

Lawsuit Filed In Connection With May 20 Personal Injury Accident

A $125,000 suit has been filed in Lancaster District Court by Carole Schellpeper in connection with a May 20 two-car accident at 48th and A.

The plaintiff alleges in her action against Lila Masden and Kenneth Masden, that the defendant Lila Masden was negligent in that she failed to have adequate control of her vehicle, failed to maintain proper lookout, was traveling at excessive speed, failed to yield the right-of-way and failed to stop for a red light.

As a result of the collision, the plaintiff alleges she suffered multiple injuries.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Wednesday

Gemini is bouncy, humorous, alive and vital. Gemini writes, reads, publicizes and advertises. Gemini, if nothing else, is on-the-go, perceptive, filled with intellectual curiosity. Natives of this zodiacal sign are restless, enthusiastic, often dominated by emotions and tend to try doing too much at one sitting. Gemini is a natural teacher, has an affinity for languages and loves to travel. Here are the mimics, the entertainers, the persons who imprint their own styles and who are happiest when making others laugh

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Accent on how to put ideas into action. Be thorough. Check details. Deal from position of knowledge. Don't waste energies in disputes with neighbors, relatives. Sense of fitness, humor comes into play.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Exchange of ideas now can be profitable. Get views on record. Be sure you are correctly quoted. Be ready for change of scenery. Some relationships are intensified. You have chance to be happier.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Meet people; go places, do things. Means come out of shell. Maintain visible profile. Let others know of your presence — and views. Talk over ideas with Taurus. Your judgment, intuition are on target.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Delve into what has been a mystery. Avoid seeing in too idealistic a light. Means face situation as it really exists. Cooperate in project designed to aid handicapped. Pitch in and help promote funds for charity, civic activities.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Accent on achievement. You gain plaudits from friends, associates. Assignment completed in recent past is evaluated and cheered. More responsibility indicated, but also greater chance for reward.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Wider recognition due which results in promotion, advancement toward goal. Aries could be involved. Finish what you start. Leave no loose ends. Accent is on what you want as differentiated from actual needs.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Good lunar aspect now coincides with travel, education and publishing. Means more people become aware of what you do, think and say. Stick to original concept. Don't be misled by one of little faith.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Stress ability to be co-operative. Joint efforts now are most likely to succeed. One who counsels on money matters is in picture. Check legal documents. Don't commit yourself to long-range promisory notes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Accent is on how you handle public affairs, how you meet one who opposes your views. Tread lightly. Don't force issues. Leave details to others. Key is to socialize, relax. Take overall view. Then you gain.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22-Jan. 19): Practical issues dominate. Aquarius and Leo persons come into focus. Avoid extremes. Maintain steady pace. Display value of products, services. Get together with one who shares interests. Check diet.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Spotlight on creativity, romance, relations with children. Change, variety of experiences are likely to be featured. Gemini and Virgo persons play important roles. Lunar aspect indicates resurgence of vitality.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Home influences are emphasized. One who really cares attempts to ensure your security. Know it and express appreciation. Build on solid base. Taurus and Libra persons figure prominently. Get agreements on paper.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are versatile, have unusual sense of humor, are doing more socializing now than in past, will make serious home or domestic adjustment in December. You are fond of travel and you often aid others in making vacation plans.

I would like to purchase a book or a pamphlet on the metric system. Where could I locate one?

—Jane Freburg, Alma

ACTION LINE: Good thinking. Maybe you can beat the rush now that Congress seems to be thinking about national conversion to the metric system.

Mike Dennis, state superintendent of weights and measures, suggests some government documents that inform about the system and include helpful conversion tables.

"English and Metric Systems of Measurement," SP304A, is a small bookelet that costs 20c. "The Modernized Metric System," SP304, is a 45"x29" wall chart of conversion tables, available for 50c. An exhaustive list of measurement conversions of all types is the book Units of Weight and Measure, miscellaneous publication 286, which costs $1.50.

All the above information is available by writing to the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

The computer room at the County-City Building is like a refrigerator all the time. The workers are freezing. No one seems to care and those that do care say they can't do anything about it.

ACTION LINE: Richard Dickerson, data processing manager, says he knew the department was being victimized by an overzealous air conditioner, but didn't know employes were so uncomfortable. He says he'll check again into the department's own air conditioning system.

By the way, the reason the department has its own system is because computer equipment requires a constant temperature of 72 degrees-75 degrees or cooler and a humidity reading of 50% which may contribute to the chilly feeling. It may never be as warm as some people like. Good old-fashioned sweaters could be the only answer to this space age problem.

On Jan. 6 I ordered $25.93 worth of books from the Publishers Central Bureau. Long standing argument in the Chrestensen household: Who killed Dr. Richard Kimball's wife in the very popular TV weekly show "The Fugitive." I say it was Inspector Girard and my son-in-law says it was the "one-armed man." Please solve this riddle for me.

ACTION LINE: Please no follow up questions from your household on how to live with your son-in-law after this.

"It was the 'one-armed man'," says Steve Strassberg at the American Broadcasting Company Press Information Service.

Last May I ordered a set of new silicone contact lenses made exclusively by Mueller Welt Contact Lenses Inc. in Chicago. I won't have to pay for them until delivery, but if delivery isn't made pretty soon, I'll have to order someplace else because I need my lenses.

—Bradford Jones, Lincoln

ACTION LINE: You ordered your lenses under a pilot plant operation while the lenses were undergoing clinical investigation, according to Joe Brigger, president of Brigger Mueller Welt.

About the time you placed your order, the firm underwent a complicated ownership change and began engineering revisions for improved lens production. Hopefully, the new lenses will be in regular production within a year, says Brigger.

But you won't have to wait that long. Modern Eyewear, the sole Lincoln distributor for the new lenses, expects yours to be ready in the next two weeks.

And if it's any consolation, you're not alone. Brigger himself lost a soft lens a month ago and is anxiously awaiting a new one.

Man's Best Friend Finds Mailbox Not His Best Friend

Springfield, Ore. (AP) — A dog's best friend is not a mailbox.

A resident called police for help after Debby Allen, 13, told him a dog was whimpering in the mailbox on the corner.

A police officer arrived and was unable to get the dog out. So he called the post office to have someone open the mail box and left.

Debby stayed to keep the dog company. She reached through the letter slot in an effort to save the dog herself. Her hand got stuck.

When the postman arrived he removed the dog but was unable to get Debby's hand loose. He called the fire department and firemen were able to free the girl.

No one knew who the dog belonged to. And postal authorities said they have no idea how the dog got into the mailbox.

Air Quality Changes Challenged

. . . Mandate Likely To Bring Civil Suit

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

The State Justice Department will consider filing a civil suit against the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) if that agency mandates certain changes in the Nebraska air quality plan.

Assistant Attorney General Betsy Berger made that observation Tuesday at the conclusion of a hearing attended by 100 people on the EPA-sponsored changes in Lincoln.

"Yes, we'd certainly consider legal action if those changes are made," Mrs. Berger stated. "But I'm unable to say for sure. It's a bit premature right now."

At the hearing, Mrs. Berger termed the proposed additions to the Nebraska air quality plan "arbitrary" and "invalid" in light of the federal Clean Air Act.

A Gray Area

However, the legality of the proposed additions to the air quality plan remained a gray area as John Morse, general counsel for the EPA's Kansas City office, disagreed with Mrs. Berger's interpretation.

"This matter is not black or white. We feel we are proceeding in a proper way," Morse commented.

The proposed changes were suggested by the EPA in July after the State Department of Environmental Control submitted a revised state air quality plan. That plan, altered at the advice of the Attorney General, regulated particulates, sulfur dioxide and open burning only in the Douglas-Sarpy County region.

Violates Procedures

Mrs. Berger tore the federal proposals apart piece-by-piece on legal and procedural grounds. Basically, she said the proposals lacked supporting data, were superfluous or violated federal procedures.

The following are the proposed additions to the state's plan and accompanying them are the Justice Department's objections.

The EPA proposed emission standards which would regulate nitrogen oxides in the Omaha region particulates in the Lincoln-Beatrice-Fairbury region and open burning in Jefferson, Gage and Thayer Counties.

There was no data taken for nitrogen oxides in the Omaha region which demonstrated that the levels exceeded primary and secondary air standards, she said. The same is true, she said, for open burning regulations in Jefferson, Gage and Thayer Counties.

"This is absolute nonsense. It's arbitrary and has no basis in the law. This change takes Omaha emission data and thrusts it on the three counties. Why weren't all other counties regulated similarly?" she asked.

—The EPA also said the state needs a provision insuring that all emission data will be public record.

"We are in precise compliance," Mrs. Berger argued. She said all emission data is already public information under the state administrative procedures act.

—The EPA also proposed a change in the compliance schedules.

This change, Mrs. Berger maintained, merely substituted a federal rule for a valid state rule. The federal proposal would move the compliance schedule back 2 months from the state's proposed schedule.

'Have the Right'

"We have the right under federal law to get into compliance our own way," she said.

—The state should review new pollution sources for possible modification under another alteration, the EPA suggested.

But she argued the state was pre-empted from this field by federal law which says the EPA will do it. She called this provision "superfluous."

—The state should provide for emergency controls on industry during periods of high air pollution.

This is already in the state law verbatim, she said.

Finally, Mrs. Berger said, the hearing itself was invalid on the basis that a 30-day notice had not been given and that any changes must be worked out with the state agency.

"The federal government can only promulgate rules if the state abjourantly refused. They must discuss it with the Environmental Control Council. These procedural steps cannot be left out," she said.

Others who testified during the hearing were Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood, George Gerdes of the Legislative Council, Charles Ellis of the Nebraska Assn. of General Contractors, Thomas Brown of the Platte Valley Sierra Club, William Krejci of the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Assn., Curtis Abdouch of the Fontenelle Forest Assn. and Delmar Serafy of the Nebraska TB and Respiratory Disease Assn.

A decision on the proposed modifications is expected sometime after Sept. 8.

Environmental Queries Sent To All Candidates

How does your candidate stack up on environmental issues?

Voters interested in their candidates' views on such issues as mass transit and predator control will have a chance to judge for themselves in October.

Some ten civic organizations, primarily in Omaha, are asking 93 candidates running for various offices from state board of education to U.S. Senator how they stand on various topics. The "Environmental Opinionnaire," as it is called, asks the candidates whether they agree, disagree or have no opinion with certain statements.

Mrs. Carolyn B. Kiper of Omaha, the co-ordinator of the opinionnaire, said the answers supplied by the various candidates will be made public in October.

The one-page opinionnaire contains close to 50 questions covering such topics as the right to a wholesome environment, mass transit, population growth, habitat management, pest control methods, nuclear power plants, land use, recycling, and electricity rates.

In addition, the opinionnaire asks each candidate how he feels about various reclamation projects, such as the Norden Dam on the Niobrara River and the Mid-State Reclamation Project.

"The opinionnaire is primarily for candidate education on environmental issues and voter education," Mrs. Kiper said.

"We're not going to rate candidates as has been done elsewhere, and we're not going to endorse candidates. This is an educational project. We hope the news media will merely print the results and not try to make any inferences about individual candidates," she said.

Thus far, she said, out of the 93 opinionnaires sent out, some 50 have been returned. The deadline for submission has already past, she said, but reminders will be sent to those remaining candidates urging them to fill the form out.

BEAUTY AT PLAY IN THE SUN

Exon Says Indian Demands Must Go Through Channels

By DON BEMAN
United Press International

Gov. J. James Exon said Tuesday he would not consider Indian demands coming from Alliance until they are submitted through the proper channels — specifically the State Indian Commission.

"When these complaints and demands are forwarded in proper form to the Indian Commission, I will certainly review them in great detail and do everything we can do to assist our Indian citizens," the governor said.

He added that requiring them to go through channels is not an attempt to delay action or sidetrack the matter.

The Indian Commission, he said, is a legal unit of state government and should be directly involved in the task of both receiving complaints and demands and in the job of correcting them.

"Indians are citizens, just like everybody else, and are certainly entitled to equal protection under the law," Exon said, "and this administration will do everything in this regard so long as we can act legally and rightfully."

The demands at issue came from Vernon Bellecourt of Denver, Colo., who was in Alliance Monday with a group of Indians protesting circumstances surrounding court actions related to the Raymond Yellow Thunder case.

Yellow Thunder was found dead in a used car lot at Gordon earlier this year. Subsequently, manslaughter charges were filed against three persons.

Alliance was chosen as the site for the most recent protest because it was the location of the trial of two of those charged, brothers Leslie D. and Melvin P. Hare.

Bellecourt, a coordinator for the American Indian Movement, branded the sentences handed down by the district court as discriminatory and called upon the governor for action. He also protested the fact the three were charged with manslaughter instead of murder.

Exon did say, however, while no formal list has been submitted, the demands he has heard of through the news media are largely outside his authority to act.

Exon said it appeared to him the coordinator "does not understand Nebraska law."

The governor has no authority to remove a judge; overrule a court decision; or release Indian prisoners from the state prison, he noted.

He also said as far as those three demands were concerned, "Even if I had the authority to act, I would not do anything until I had far more information than I now have."

As to any future actions, the governor said he had talked with State Indian Commission Director Robert Mackey and he has been directed to continue his investigations and the governor's office informed.

The governor also asked that any future complaints concerning the plight of Nebraska Indians be taken directly to the Indian Commission, where they can be dealt with properly.

Lamb Leaps One Hurdle For 4-H'er

By SAM THORSON
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Aurora — Sondra Obermeier's 87-pound market lamb has leaped one hurdle in fine fashion. Next come the State Fair and Ak-Sar-Ben.

Sondra's 4½-month-old ram lamb was named grand champion in 4-H market lamb judging at the Hamilton County Fair here Tuesday, and helped win the 13-year-old 4-H'er another purple — this one a third—in the pen-of-three competition.

On top of that, the docile animal kept its cool in the showmanship event while lesser specimens were bolting, jumping fences, cavorting around the arena and generally embarrassing their owners. Sondra took reserve honors and another purple in that event.

In convincing judge Archie White of Fremont that it was the cream of the crop, Sondra's lamb surpassed nine other purples in what White termed an exceptional field.

"Ten purples is high," White said, "but the quality was very good. Most of those lambs were the right weight. Most of them weighed in at about 85 to 100 pounds."

"He's a nationally-known judge," said fair board president Paul Kemling of judge White. "He doesn't give purples unless the merit is there.

This year's fair fielded large, high-quality crops of swine and sheep, Kemling said, explaining that the "high price of feeder calves" and a de-emphasis on cattle events have channeled some 4-H'ers in other directions.

Sondra, however, has been exhibiting lambs for four years, since she graduated from 4-H cooking. Her father, Dale Obermeier of Phillips, raises 25 or 30 head of sheep on their farm, and older brother Mark, 21, showed lambs before she did.

The prize lamb, she said, was born around the end of March or early April. "Around the last of May I pick a group I think could produce well," she said. "I have to choose before the first of July because that's when you have to enter the ones you're going to show."

Lambs, she said, are preferable to calves because "they're a little easier to handle. They're not really less work, because they take a lot of caring. But I just like 'em."

Northeast Technical College Area Not Among Districts Levying Tax

Norfolk (UPI) — The president of the Northeast Nebraska Technical Community College area said Tuesday the 14-county area did not levy a one-mill tax to support its operations for the current fiscal year.

"No LB759 funds were anticipated here until fiscal 1973," Dr. Robert P. Cox of Norfolk said.

Last Friday the state attorney general's office said LB759, which set up the technical community college system in 1971, does not provide that the one-mill tax can be levied until the 1973-74 fiscal year.

Dr. Robert C. Schleiger of Lincoln, executive director of the State Technical Community Colleges Board, had originally indicated four of the seven organized areas, including Northeast, submitted budgets including the one-mill assessment.

"I inadvertently included Northeast among the names of the areas submitting budgets with the one-mill assessment," Schleiger said Tuesday morning.

The attorney general's opinion was written in response to a question from the state auditor's office after the office received the Central Nebraska area budget.

The other two areas which submitted budgets based on the one-mill levy were Southeast Nebraska and Eastern Nebraska.

Dr. Cox said the Northeast area is continuing to operate solely on the two-mill levy authorized under the Legislation establishing vocational-technical schools. Votech schools and junior colleges are being included in the tech community college system.

"We got our attorney's opinion in February advising we shouldn't do it this year (levy the one-mill tax)," Cox said. "It sure would be nice to have more money, but we planned our expansion without the extra money."

Brauer Quits Regent Race, Will Give 'Full Explanation'

S. H. (Zeke) Brauer Jr. of Lincoln Tuesday withdrew from the November election as a candidate for the University of Nebraska Board of Regents, leaving Ed Schwartzkopf of Lincoln alone in his contest for re-election.

Brauer's withdrawal affadavit was filed with Secretary of State Allen Beermann.

Schwartzkopf is seeking re-election for a second six-year term.

Beermann said Sept. 18 is the deadline for anyone else to file for a spot opposite Schwartzkopf on the ballot as a petition candidate.

In the May primary election, Brauer finished second to Schwartzkopf. J. James Plant of Lincoln was third, with the top pair to go on the November ballot.

Contacted Tuesday, Brauer said his reason for withdrawing was "personal" but declined to elaborate and said he would give a "full explanation" Wednesday.

Brauer has long been associated with rural and conservative school interests in the state, representing the Nebraska School Improvement Association.

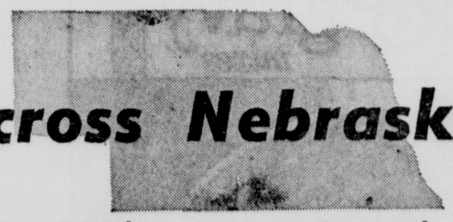
Reformatory Trusty Missing

State Penal Complex officials reported Tuesday the escape of Joe Dudley Doss, also known as Frank Doss.

Doss, 29, a Reformatory trusty, had been working at the bakery at the Lincoln Regional Center when he was discovered missing about 1 p.m.

Doss was sentenced in June, 1972, from Lancaster County to a 18-to-36-month term for writing insufficient fund checks.

Across Nebraska



Changes In Wheat Program Opposed

Ogallala — The directors of the Nebraska-Wyoming Wheat Growers Association at their regular monthly meeting here opposed changing set-aside requirements on voluntary additional set-aside provisions as announced for 1973. The directors feel that the 1973 program has adequate flexibility to produce supplies necessary for the domestic and expanding export market.

Jehovah's Witnesses Training Meet Set

Hastings — A two-day Christian training conference for Jehovah's Witnesses will be held here Saturday and Sunday. Near 850 from central Nebraska and northern Kansas are expected to attend. G. L. Hewitt of Brooklyn, N.Y., district overseer for the Jehovah's Witnesses, will be the main speaker at the gathering.

Chaloupka Named Municipal Judge

Scottsbluff (AP) — Scottsbluff Mayor C. A. Thomas Tuesday named Scottsbluff attorney Robert Chaloupka as municipal judge. Chaloupka replaces Wayne MacIntosh who resigned for what he said was "business pressures." MacIntosh had been judge for the past five years. Chaloupka will serve in the post until Jan. 1 when the new court reform bill takes effect.

Leahy Denies Forming 'Demo For Nixon'

Omaha (AP) — Omaha Mayor Eugene Leahy denied reports that he would form a Democrats for Nixon organization in Omaha. The registered Democrat said he has not been sought out to form the organization nor has he contacted anyone to form such a group. Leahy said he may decide later to endorse some candidates, but has not decided at this time which candidates or what offices.

15% Hike In Turkey Crop Indicated

Nebraska apparently is increasing its contribution to the nation's Thanksgiving Day dinner tables this year. Nebraska turkey growers expect to raise 933,000 birds this year, according to the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics. That's a 15% increase over the 811,000 turkeys raised in the state last year.

Norfolk To Host Dancers' Convention

Norfolk (UPI) — Nebraska square and round dance enthusiasts will join in celebrating the national square dance month in September, beginning with a state convention in Norfolk. The annual convention of the Nebraska Square and Round Dance group will be held in Norfolk Sept. 15-16. The sessions will feature dancing, workshops, panel discussions, a style show and exhibitions.

Dana Accreditation Okayed For 10 Years

Blair (UPI) — Dana College officials said Tuesday the school's accreditation by the North Central Association has been continued for another 10 years. Dana President E. R. Mezoff said the accreditation renewal came after a "thorough evaluation" conducted by the association this summer. The accreditation by the association, which rates most midwestern colleges, was not in jeopardy.

Mishap Fatal To Worker

Scottsbluff (AP) — Jerry Wakefield, 19, of Cheyenne, Wyo., died in a Scottsbluff hospital Tuesday of injuries received in an accident at the Nash Finch Co. loading dock.

Authorities said Wakefield suffered head injuries when he was pinned between a truck backing toward the dock and the building Tuesday.

The driver of the truck, owned by the Scott Trucking Co. of Scottsbluff, was Alvin Shoemaker of Scottsbluff.

Crash Near Ayr Claims Student, 20

Hastings (UPI) — Rural Adams County has recorded its first traffic fatality of the year with the belated report of the death of a 20-year-old Ogallala woman.

Adams County Attorney William Connolly said Tuesday Pamela Peterson, a student at Central Nebraska Technical College in Hastings, had died in a Hastings hospital.

Miss Peterson was taken to Mary Lanning Hospital with injuries suffered in a traffic accident last Wednesday near Ayr in southern Adams County.

Connolly said at the time, Miss Peterson's condition was not thought to be critical, but it later worsened and she died early Sunday.

Funeral services were at the Congregational Church in Ogallala.

The death raised Nebraska's 1972 traffic toll to 293, compared with 291 on the same date last year.

Rites Held For Victim Of Mishap

Juniata — Funeral services were held here Monday for Hugo F. Papenhagen, 50, who was fatally injured Friday when a car he had jacked up slipped and fell on him.

A lifetime resident of Adams County, he farmed near Juniata for many years. He was a member of the District 25 and 35 schools boards and served as a treasurer of Redeemer Lutheran Church.

Surviving are his wife, Rose; son, Lonny of Fort Bragg, N.C.; daughter, Carol, at home. two grandchildren, a brother and five sisters.

Officials Seeking Prison Inmate

Law enforcement officials are seeking a state penitentiary inmate who apparently walked away from a work detail early Tuesday evening at the state fairgrounds.

Prison officials identified the inmate as William F. Maliszewski, 23, of Omaha. He was serving a three-year sentence for burglary.

Caudillo Faces Second Degree Murder Charge

North Platte (AP) — Joseph Caudillo, 21, of North Platte has been charged with second degree murder in the death Saturday night of Danny Silos, 27, also of North Platte.

Bond for Caudillo was set at $10,000. Silos, father of six children, was shot to death.

Man Charged With Murder Cuts Wrist In Keith Co. Jail

Ogallala (AP) — A prisoner in Keith County jail cut his wrist with a piece of glass Monday night in an apparent suicide attempt, the sheriff's office said Tuesday.

Michael Wayne Rhodes Sr. who is being held on a first degree murder charge in connection with the slaying of a hitchhiker near Paxton in May, was treated at a hospital and released Tuesday to the sheriff's department.

Rhodes, of Taylorville, Ill., apparently broke a window in his cell and used the glass to slash his wrists. Jail officials said they found him lying on his bunk still conscious and he was rushed to a hospital.

Rhodes is awaiting trial in district court in connection with the beating and shooting of Fokke Snoeijer, 21, of Grand Rapids, Mich. Snoeijer's body was found in a field near Paxton May 23.

2 UNL Art Students Are First Recipients Of Coleman Scholarships

Two art students at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln have been selected the first recipients of the Thomas P. Coleman Memorial Scholarships in printmaking.

The scholarships, each carrying a $100 stipend, go to Marti Haack, a senior and daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Donald C. Haack of Lincoln, and Rosemary Kuehn, a graduate student and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Kuehn of Heartwell.

Both Miss Haack and Miss Kuehn, who received her bachelor of fine arts degree from NU, studied under Professor Coleman, who died in June, 1971, and whose family is making the scholarships possible.

They both have demonstrated exceptional ability in the field of printmaking, noted Robert Spence, chairman of the art department.

Engineering Scholarships Reported

The Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company is providing scholarships for four students in the College of Engineering and Architecture at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Parviz Pakravan, son of Mr. Hossein Pakravan of Omaha and a senior majoring in chemical engineering, will receive a $250 stipend.

Two juniors majoring in mechanical engineering, Dale F. Widoe and John A. Harnly, will receive $375 scholarships. Widoe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Widoe of Bellevue and Harnly the son of Mrs. Betty J. Harnly of Lincoln.

Receiving a $500 scholarship is William Hon-Ying Wong of Hong Kong, a senior majoring in chemical engineering.

Colin, Earl Clash Over Accounting Data

Another clash between Lancaster County Commissioner Robert Colin Sr. and Rex Earl of Colonial Homes, which operates Lancaster Manor for the county, was sparked Tuesday when Earl asked that the board get any information it might need on finances of Lancaster Manor from the Colonial Homes office in Omaha rather than from the bookkeeper at Lancaster Manor.

Earl said that seeking out information from the bookkeeper at Lancaster Manor puts the bookkeeper "on the spot" and that person often is not prepared to give the full information requested sometimes resulting in a distorted picture of the situation.

When Colin asked what purpose there is in having a bookkeeper at Lancaster Manor if that person can't answer the questions, Earl contended that Colin must understand the difference between bookkeeping and auditing.

"To get the full, true picture, the information should come from us,' Earl said.

Colin contended that as long as people such as the bookkeeper are county employes he felt he had a right to get information from them.

However, Earl reinterated his earlier statement that the full information that the commissioners might want can only be obtained through his Omaha office.

"How do I know the information I get from you is right," Colin asked.

In other business, the board awarded a contract for two miles of paving on the jog road between 27th and 56th to Dobson Bros., which submitted the low bid of $130,927.80. The only other bidder was Abel Const., which submitted a bid of $132,915.01.

The commissioners also approved the hiring of a part-time public defender, Robert Eberly, at a salary of $5,500 per year as recommended by Public Defender T. Clement Gaughan.

Buyers Pay $272,100 During Collossal Cattlemen's Vacation Sale

Minatare (AP) — Buyers from 22 states paid $272,100 for 100 lots of cattle, an average of $2,721 per lot, at Collossal Cattlemen's Vacation Sale Monday.

A lot consisted of eight (a cow with calf at side or a cow carrying a calf).

All carried the blood line of Collossal's so-called million-dollar Black Angus bull, for whom the company is named.

The sale included 30 cows with Collossal bull calves, 50 cows with Collossal heifer calves and the cow bred back to Collossal or some other bull in the company.

Twenty granddaughters of Collossal selling with calves at side brought an $800 premium over the $2,721 average.

Candy Meadows of Warrenton, Va., which purchased 11 lots for $48,600, was the top buyer of the sale. Candy Meadows paid $7,900 each for two cows with heifer calves at side and rebred to the Collossal strain.

The second high buyer was Cedarmont Farms of Franklin, Tenn., which bought seven lots of cattle for more than $30,000.

Trustees To Meet

The board of trustees of Lincoln General Hospital will meet Wednesday at 8:30 a.m. at the hospital. Among items for discussion is the proposed physicians office building in the one-north wing.

Lincoln Seeks Railroad Relocation Program

Columbus, Ohio (AP) — A Nebraska official suggested today that the location of a pilot city to study railroad relocation problems should be in his city of Lincoln.

Marvin Nuernberger, executive director of the Lincoln-Lancaster Railroad Transportation Safety District, spoke at a national conference on rail crossing safety at Ohio State University.

He told an estimated 300 transportation and safety officials he would like their support of an amendment to the 1972 federal aid highway act which was introduced by Nebraska's U.S. senators.

Nuernberger said the amendment would direct the secretary of transportation to select a pilot city. He indicated Lincoln would be the best place for it.

Appearing on a panel of speakers, he traced the history of Lincoln's efforts to modernize its transportation facilities. He said negotiations will begin there soon on a major relocation of the Rock Island Line. The project also will involve the Burlington Northern and Union Pacific railroads as well as numerous public and private agencies, he said.

Nuernberger noted that a federal study on urban railroad relocation problems is being conducted by the Stanford Research Institute but added that the federal government must stand ready to provide more funds.

The study "is a basis for hope for a long overdue solution, but hopes don't go far until they are reinforced with hard cash," he said.

State Monument Approval Sought

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha architect who conceived a massive moncment to the pioneers on Interstate 80 between Lincoln and Omaha formal state approval for his project within 90 days.

Plans still call for construction to begin next spring with completion sometime in the fall of 1973, said Jean Dunbar.

Dunbar said he will meet within the next few days with a committee appointed by Gov. J. J. Exon to aid in construction of the monument which would be built near the Greenwood interchange across Interstate 80.

Because he had to undergo back surgery shortly after unveiling the project last May, Dunbar said, "We've run into an unforeseen amount of delay but we still think we can start building next spring."

Preliminary approval has been given by the state Roads Department and the federal highway administration, Dunbar said, and formal approval will be asked later.

With the expected cost to go beyond $1 million, Dunbar said no state or tax funds are being sought. All donations will be privately made and a Nebraska-based foundation "has given us a very favorable response," Dunbar said.

The sweeping structure would span the highway on a rise just east of the interchange, and would include two vertical columns on either side of the road spanned by a crossbar and topped off by a sculpture of a pioneer family.

The entire structure would be 235 feet tall at its highest point — the top of the man in the figure. Height to the underside of the crossbeam would be 150 feet and width 375 feet.

Dunbar proposed his structure as a "memorial to the men and women of a century ago." Comparing it to the Gateway Arch in St. Louis, he predicted it would serve as a lure to tourists since visitors would be able to travel through the hollow structure to the top.

Correct Mileage Law To Become Effective Sept. 1

The State Motor Vehicles Director issued a reminder Tuesday that a state law making it a crime for car dealers to tamper with odometers is due to go into effect Sept. 1.

Director John Sullivan noted the law passed by the Legislature this year provides penalties of up to $1,000 fines or jail sentences of up to 90 days.

He also said a conviction under the law could result in the revocation of car dealer licenses

Telephone Rate Hike Decision To Be Appealed

Lancaster County legislative candidate Bonnie Hibler of Unadilla Tuesday said she will take the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Company's rate increase to court.

Mrs. Hibler said she was not surprised by the State Railway Commission's announcement Monday that it was permanently approving the LT&T toll rate increase, which had earlier been okayed on a temporary emergency basis.

"Now that all ordinary avenues of recourse have been exhausted, it is my intention to attempt to block this outrageous increase in the courts," she said.

"I will ask our attorneys to prepare briefs seeking an injunction against collection of this additional increase until the matter can be permanently settled in court."

Mrs. Hibler, a candidate for the 25th District seat in the Legislature, had led the protests to the rate increase which resulted in a recent hearing before the commission.

"It has been evident that the commission had no intention of reversing its earlier 'emergency' action, regardless of testimony which the public offered," she said.

"The supposed 'public' hearing of August 16 has now been revealed for what it really was — a kangaroo court and whitewash tribunal set up merely to ratify the predetermined wish of the Railway Commission and phone companies."

Shredding Operation May Help Solve Junk Car Problems

By United Press International

A State Economic Development Department spokesman said Tuesday there's a possibility private industry may provide the major part of a solution to Nebraska's junk car problem.

"There's a possibility a car shredding operation may be coming into the state," said Larry Bare, who has been assigned the task of finding solutions to the problem.

Already available in Nebraska, the official said, are two car crushing operations.

Under an existing program coordinated through the department, if a community can get together at least 200 vehicles the crushing operation will move in.

A shredding operation, however, Bare said, would represent the ultimate. A shredder, he said, literally shreds vehicles into the various materials used in construction.

When a vehicle is simply compacted, it must then be sent to a shredding operation for further processing. At present, Bare said, the nearest shredder is located in Kansas City.

But as yet, the official said, negotiations over permanently locating a shredding operation in Nebraska are in "very, very preliminary stages."

If successful, Bare said, the move would solve some problems now facing the state. The major one, he said, is the possibility of involving state funds.

Bare said it appears that in order to keep the compacting business in operation, the state may have to come up with a subsidy program. A subsidy, he said, would be specifically applied to transportation costs.

The scrap market isn't good enough to permit continued crushing and shipping without some kind of help, Bare said.

Thus, he said, a shredding operation could prove to be a means of keeping government agencies out of the field so that private enterprise can go in and make enough money to stay in.

Bare also said solutions arrived at by other states to the problem are being studied for use should the shredding plan fall through.

From preliminary reports, he said, "it appears we could go any number of different directions."

One of the suggestions emerging from efforts of other states would be to levy a charge on each car sold. The money realized would be used for the eventual junking of the vehicle.

Suggested during recent sessions of the Legislature was the establishment of a state owned and operated junking operation.

"So, you see, there are a number of things that can be done. Which way we go depends at the moment on the outcome of negotiations on the shredding operation," Bare said.

New Vice Chancellor Bader Arrives On UNL Campus

Kenneth Bader

Begins Duties

Former Ohio State University Dean of Students Kenneth L. Bader arrived in Lincoln this week to begin his duties as vice chancellor for student affairs at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Bader, 38, will coordinate student development services and programs, housing, student union programs and activities, academic services, minority affairs and student health services.

In a statement released Tuesday, Bader said universities need "to recognize the developmental aspects of the student."

"The individual today needs many skills to meet the requirements of a complex, pluralistic society," he said. "These factors need to be taken into consideration in the educational process."

An Ohio native, Bader holds degrees from Ohio State, where he began his professional career as a teaching assistant in agronomy.

Berg Hopes To Eliminate Corporation Tax Loopholes

Democratic congressional nominee Darrel Berg Tuesday said he would "work to eliminate the loopholes which enable many corporations to escape paying income taxes."

A recent report by the Internal Revenue Service shows that 43% of all American coporations pay no income taxes, the First District candidate said.

"How many American families can make the same claim?" Berg asked.

"Of course, some of the corporations are losing money. But most are able to evade taxes by a combination of gimmicks with names like depreciation, depletion, investment credits and foreign tax credits."

Certain allowances should be made for "wear and tear on machinery (depreciation) and erosion of resources (depletion)," Berg said.

"But strong lobbying by large industries has turned these legitimate allowances into loopholes that are large enough to drive trucks through."

Royce Claims UCT Has Been Major Factor

International president of the Order of United Commercial Travelers of America, Ray Royce, told the Lincoln chapter Tuesday night that the UCT has been a major factor in bringing public attention to the needs of retarded children.

Ray Royce

UCT A Factor

He said that through their program the UCT has given scholarships to more than 3,000 teachers of retarded children during the past nine years.

In their own communities, members have contributed more than a million dollars in man-hours and cash developing programs for retarded children.

They have funded sheltered workshops and purchased materials and equipment to be used in the promotion of educating and training these children to be useful and often self-supporting citizens.

With a total membership of over 254,000 the oragnization has 691 local councils in 47 states, the District of Columbia and all the provinces of Canada.

Royce, of Aurora, Mo., as Supreme Counselor of the organization, visits local UCT councils and Grand Jurisdictions. He will serve as Supreme Counselor until July 1973.

Firm Appealing Suspension Of Liquor License

B&R Stores, Inc., doing business as R&B Beer and Liquor, filed suit in Lancaster District Court Tuesday asking the court to reverse a Nebraska Liquor Control Commissioner order suspending the firm's retail package liquor license for 14 days.

According to the petition, on July 31, 1972, the Liquor Commissioner charged B&R Stores with two counts of selling to minors less than 19 years old and with failing to use diligence to determine the age of the minors.

On Aug. 9, the plaintiff alleges, a hearing was held and on Aug. 16 the plaintiff was found guilty of the charges and the Liquor Commissioner ordered that the plaintiff's license be suspended from Sept. 17 to Oct. 2.

The plaintiff contends that the decision was unsupported by competent, material and substantial evidence and was arbitrary and capricious.

Regional Shopping Center Planned Between Scottsbluff And Gering

Scottsbluff (AP) — The Lyman Investment Co., Lyman, Neb., announced Tuesday it has purchased 100 acres of land between Scottsbluff and Gering for a regional shopping center.

A spokesman for the firm, Marks O. Morrision, said the facility will be known as the Riverside Shopping Center.

"The first priority will be the preservation of lakes and wildlife which are located on the property," Morrison said. He said the development plans call for the incorporation of the lakes and trees into the complex rather than destroying existing plant life and replanting.

Morrison said several local businessmen have indicated an interest in locating in such a complex as well as several major retailers.

Approximately 200,000 square feet under one roof is planned for the initial building with parking space for 1,500 cars, he said.

According to Morrison, a major hotel chain is considering locating a motel around the lake with the idea of providing fishing for its guests.

There will also be room for a mobile home, shrubs and a service station, Morrison said.

Landfill and leveling will begin as soon as engineering studies are completed, he said.

"Winston Churchill came here to paint," said the antique headwaiter leading me to a table behind a potted palm.

"He made several landscapes. Some of them were unfinished and we always hoped he would return to complete them."

You could see that he felt the hotel had fallen on poor days.

"Always Madeira had only the cream of the aristocracy. Lords and ladies. Royal Dukes — the Duke of Windsor was a guest here. Would you like to start with the soup?"

this day n tht Britis Empire. Sad hought.

The sun sets a little more this day on the British Empire. Sad thought.

The island of Madeira lies some 500 miles southwest of Lisbon, of the coast of Africa.

It is sub-tropical on the banana coast. Chill as a mountain climber's memories at its 6,000-feet top. The island is only 30 miles long and 14 miles wide. Solid rock and everything straight down.

For several hundred years, Madeira has been beloved of the British. They came to soak up sun during the winter. They drank the Madeira wine — you must remember the earl who drowned his wife in a butt of fine, old Malmsey?

They took exercising walks up and down the mountains.

The hotels got British names —Reid's, the Savoy. And the native cooks learned how to ruin eggs and toast in the highest traditions of England.

There are always rat finks in Eden. A few years ago progress-minded Madeirans chopped a flat place in the rocky side of the island. They put in an air strip — like landing on the deck of a carrier.

It put the island within an hour of Lisbon. Instead of the which had effectively barred whic had efsectively barred the time-scheduled American tourist.

The morning Madeira papers hailed the opened airport and the arrival of American journalists. The beginning of the new gold rush.

Over their afternoon tea, the wintering British give us wintry looks.

The waiter serves me last. The last crumbs of the tea cakes.

In order to get around these up-and-down hills, the early day English employed stout Madeirans to haul them in hammocks.

Early prints show English gentlemen lying like fish in net hammocks, slung to poles and shouldered by properly awed Madeira peasants. They were also pulled about by ox carts — the cart mounted on sled like skids. I imagine anything on wheels would just keep right on going.

Since these means of transports were used in the 1700s, they are traditional. Therefore, they have been kept up and are still in use.

Hammock bearing is a profession. British visitors take a spin in a hammock, gritting their teeth but determined to hold the line.

The bullock cart drivers wear straw sailor hats. Exactly as you see them in fading photographs taken in the Golden Eighties.

The biggest wine merchants have English names — Blandy's Cossart, Gordon Ltd. (The Gordons were exiled for following Bonnie Prince Charlie. The original Blandy was with the Iron Duke during the Peninsular Wars against Napoleon.)

Power, Rutherford, Miles, Browne and Drury are names in the Madeira wine business of this island.

"Now," said the ancient head waiter, "they are building new hotels. Everyone talks of the coming of thousands of American tourists. It is a change. We have lived with the English for so many years."

(It makes you feel like an invader. However, remember the British did burn the White House in 1812.)

Squirrels Win

New York — Squirrels' appetite for the lead sheathing on telephone cables costs phone companies at least $500,000 in damage annually. After 50 years and 100 deterrent devices, Bell engineers in 1956 conceded victory to the squirrels.

MISS FRANCES DONOVAN

Of interest to Lincoln this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Donovan of Cranston, R.I., of the engagement of their daughter, Frances Jane, to Richard Irwin Robertson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard I. Robertson of Lincoln.

The wedding is planned for January and the ceremony will be solemnized at St. Ann Church in Cranston.

Miss Donovan attended Northwestern University last year and will be a sophomore at the University of Nebraska this year.

Mr. Robertson also spent his freshman year at Northwestern University, and will be a student at the University of Nebraska this year.

MISS MARY SMILEY

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. William W. Smiley of the engagement of their daughter, Mary Jeanne, to Gary L. Jewell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Jewell of Albion.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, Dec. 23.

Miss Smiley was graduated in May from the University of Nebraska where she majored in education.

Betrothal Revealed

This morning Mrs. Joan Orth makes announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter Loree Patrice, to Michael Lee Westenburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Westenburg.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Oct. 7.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Funny thing, but the words 'zest' and 'guest' seem to rhyme, and we're happy that they do. Guests always add a certain zest to the news, and this is a morning of guests.

First on our list is Miss Brenda Brown who will be arriving on Saturday to spend a long weekend with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. John A. Brown, III, and it will be her first visit to Lincoln since the last holiday season.

Miss Brown a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a Tri-Delta, is the possessor of an exciting career. She is a tour escort for AITS of Boston, and that means she travels almost everywhere in the world. Her visit to Lincoln, we might add, will be her most recent one since she served as escort for tours in Israel, the Holy Land, Denmark and all of the other Scandinavian countries.

Since we seem to be on the subject of the Brown family we'll tell what we know about another member of the family —Mrs. Philip Nelson (Joan Brown) of Aurora.

Mrs. Nelson will be on her way to Pennsylvania in a couple of weeks, with the State College of Pennsylvania (Penn State) as her specific destination. While there the former Nebraska coed — and also a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority, will receive her Master's degree in art education. Then back to Aurora and the three masculine members of her family — her husband, and her two sons — John, who is four years old — and Jim, who arrived on the 16th of last May.

Mrs. Nelson has an Associate Degree in arts from Columbia College, Columbia, Mo.; a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Education degree from the University of Nebraska.

And speaking of people who are shaping their lives along educational routes, we have news of Miss Ann Beachley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Beachly.

Miss Beachly was graduated from the University of Nebraska and now is in Omaha where she is working toward an Associate Degree in nursing at the University of Nebraska School of Nursing.

Miss Beachly, by the way, has a brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. Tom Williams (Sue Beachly) who are seniors at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine.

National Square Dance Month

Square dancers across the nation will be "doing their own thing" come September, which has been selected at National Square Dance Month.

Special dances and festivals will be held at the community, state, and regional levels to commemorate the national recognition —and Nebraska, both state-wide and locally, will be no exception.

The Northeast Federation will kick off its observance of National Square Dance Month with its second annual state convention which will be held in Norfolk on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 15 and 16.

According to the convention directors, square and round dancers, alike, will have the opportunity to attend dances, workshops, panel discussions, style shows and luncheons, after-parties, and exhibitions during the two-day conference.

Approximately 1500 dancers from nearly every county, as well as surrounding states and various parts of the nation, will participate in the convention, including the dances which are scheduled to take place in four locations.

Highlighting the Friday evening dances which will begin at 8 o'clock will be nationally known callers, including Ken Bower of Des Moines, Iowa, Gary Shoemake of Tulsa, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chaffee of Auora, Colo. Many state and area callers will be featured on Saturday's program.

conZOOsations

We are the Black Tailed Prairie Dogs of Boot Hill. Our name is perfect for us because we have brown bodies and black tails, of course.

Our home here at the Children's Zoo is just right since we love desolate, earthy areas where we have lots of room to dig our tunnels and construct our underground homes — and, besides, those fellows who are buried six feet under at Boot Hill rarely interfere with our 'diggings.'

At last count, there were about 13 of us here at the Zoo, but it really is hard to tell exactly how many of us there are since we rarely are all above ground at one time. Also, we have such an intricate underground network that it is hard, even for us, to meet all of our relatives. By the way, we stay in our tunnels and underground homes when it is cold and rainy, or when it is hot.

We Prairie Dogs are native to Nebraska. At one time there were millions and millions of us all over the Great Plains. Some of our towns were so large that the pioneers would travel through them for days. And then man decided to settle in these parts, building his towns on top of ours. Of course, it is difficult to burrow through concrete, and man's insecticides and pesticides were suicide for us, so we were forced to move on, but not before they decided that we were menaces. Their horses often would stumble and break their legs in our burrows, so man poisoned many of our ancestors and practiced his sharpshooting skills on the rest of our relatives.

The execution of millions of the Prairie Dogs really was tragic — not that we were in danger of becoming extinct, but because many of the animals that were dependent upon us for food were threatened, and are even more threatened with extinction today. For example, the Black Footed Ferret ate only Priairie Dogs without depleting our population — but since we are fewer in numbers, their species died off. In fact, the last time such a Ferret was seen in the wild state was way back in 1966. Also, the small Burrowing Owl is getting ready to bite the dust since he just lived on Prairie Dogs, mice, and rats. Other animals that used us for food were the coyote and the hawk. All in all, we served as contributors to ecology when we were allowed to roam the plains. By killing us off, the white man only wiped out other species of animals.

As rodents, we are related to the Ground Squirrel, and we also are vegetarians. In the wilds, we ate grass — and here at the Zoo we eat lettuce and popcorn that our visitors toss into Boot Hill to lure us out of our burrows.

We have been told that we are highly socialistic animals. Our underground towns include a complex system of tunnels — and we even have closets, nurseries for our babies, storage areas for our food, and separate morgues and burying grounds for our dead. By the way, we bury our dead, not only out of respect, but also because, if left above ground, their bodies would attract predators. To further prevent aainst invasion by our predators, our relatives in the wilds station guards all around the edges of their towns to warn of coming danger.

Our main defense against our predators is our ability to dig. We dig tunnels so fast that some animals can't even catch up with us, and we even have one or more escape hatches to further confuse our enemies. Our long, sharp claws and teeth make our digging chores much easier, and we dig many of our tunnels in a U-shape so that our rooms won't flood — and we even put dikes around the burrows to further avoid flooding.

Another example of our socialistic ways is that we have executed the bad Prairie Dogs among us — usually for such crimes as stealing a mate or killing another Prairie Dog. Some experts say that we are well-adapted to our environment, and that must be true because, as our colonies become too large and over-crowded, we kick many of our relatives out to start their own towns.

Don't forget that the Children's Zoo will be open through September, so stop by Boot Hill and visit us when you are there.

CHIT-CHAT with Roxi

Dear Roxi.

I have been writing to a pen pal in England for several years. Now he is coming to the United States to go to school. He thinks I'm cute and attractive but you see Roxi, the picture I sent him showed me from the shoulders on up. He doesn't know what is below. If he did he'd likely croke. I'm overweight and I know it. But I can't stop eating and the more nervous I get the more I eat. What am I going to do?

A. First of all concentrate on your problem instead of food. If you must snack, eat carrots, celery, things that you can eat a lot of and not gain weight. Then stop and I mean stop with a capital S all desserts. Eat smaller portions of your regular diet and no seconds. That way you aren't losing needed nutrition while you are losing weight. And when he comes no matter how much you weigh the thing he is going to see first is that fantastic smile of yours. So make sure it is there.

Dear Roxi:

My girl friend and I both applied for the same job. I got it and she didn't. Since then she hasn't spoken one word to me. The silence is killing me. What can I do to let her know I still want to be friends?

A. Tell her honestly and openly. If she is much of a friend she will understand. It seems to me that not getting the job would make her more determined to get one. Suggest to her that there is an opening at such and such a place and that she would be just perfect for it. She might take you up on your suggestion since you won't be competing against her.

Dear Roxi:

I will be having a party soon and I would like to invite a boy I used to like a long time ago who has since moved into another school district. I haven't seen him for five years and I would like to see him. Do you think it would be all right? Part of me still likes him and I want to find out if the feeling is mutual or not.

A .Yes it would be all right. An informal surrounding may shed much new light on the subject — namely you. You'd be surprised how much a person can change in five years and this may be a way for him to notice the change and something just might click. Never know. It is worth a try.

Do you have a problem or question? If so write Chit Chat with Roxi in care of the Lincoln Star.

Dining with Wine

The fastest growing form of guest entertainment in America today is the wine and cheese party. It is no longer a fad promoted by wine dealers and cheese processors. While these affairs might have initially been inspired by publicity they are catching on and are providing a most interesting experience for the participants. They are interesting because almost everyone likes to try something new and with the great number of wines and cheeses available the possibilities for varied enjoyment are endless.

Expensive china, silver, linens and other accessories required with formal dining are unnecessary at a wine and cheese party. In fact, when wine and cheese are served they form the main attraction — no fancy trimmings or decorations are required.

The beginner may need advice in pairing wine with cheese. For instance, few people realize that cheese should be served at or near room temperature; never ice cold directly from the refrigerator. And it should not be left unrefrigerated for too long as it tends to get oily and loses its flavor. Cheese should not be cut into small cubes because it tends to dry out — it is much better served from a wheel or brick; with the guest slicing off the portion he wishes to sample. As for the wine, it is a very simple matter to learn how it should be served. For this information rely on your wine merchant.

Organizations of wine enthusiasts, of which there are many, usually hold serious wine and cheese tastings. Each member soon becomes an expert in his own right and takes these affairs rather seriously. He will take great pains to make sure of the proper pairing and will usually select cheese such as Monterey Jack, Havarti, Fontina or Brie. These go well with white wines such as Chateau Carbonnieux (a white Bordeaux); or a Moselle such as Trier-Ruwer-Maximerberg 1970. Cheese such as Muenster, Boursin or Port Salut go better with a red wine such as Chateau Neuf-du-Pape Domaine de Grand Coulet 1966.

The informal wine and cheese tasting party is a very simple one to arrange according to one who has had much experience in entertaining. Shirley Whitlin is the vice-president of her husbands gift-ware business. Besides being active in the conduct of the business she often entertains buyers who come from all over the world to the Doranne plant in California. She has found that the wine and cheese party is a welcome change from the usual formal dinner to which many of her customers have been accustomed; and it has made a big hit with both her European and American guests. She reports that the larger the group the less wine and cheese is consumed and there is little effort rquired to arrange these affairs. You don't need a cook or caterer and you needn't worry about whether your guests would prefer, meat, fish or fowl — everyone likes wine and cheese.

Former Lincoln Resident Is Honored

Former Lincoln resident, Mrs. Edwin Lee Nelson of Laguna Hills, Calif. recently was named to the current edition of "Personalities of the West and Midwest." Mrs. Nelson, who is the former Phyllis Schiedler, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Schiedler, and is a 1951 graduate of Lincoln High School. She also attended St. Paul Bible College in St. Paul, Minn.

Individuals included in the publication are chosen for their outstanding and distinguished service to their community and state. Mrs. Nelson has been active in school, church and hospital work; and in 1968 she was presented the Outstanding Service Award by the Women's Division of the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Nelson and her husband, a graduate of the University of Nebraska, have two daughters, Pamela and Lori, and one son, Randall.

The bidding:

1 h	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
1 NT	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
4 ♥

Opening lead — three of diamonds.

A fine declarer does everything he can to avoid, or at least postpone, a two-way guess for a queen. He hopes something will happen along the way that will enable him to avoid the guess.

Here is a typical situation where West leads a diamond and declarer sees that his potential losers are two spades, a diamond and a trump. The trump loser seems to depend on guessing the location of the queen, which is finessable, but South has no idea at the start where the damsel is located.

He postpones a confrontation with the issue by ducking the diamond, winning the return with the ace, ruffing a diamond with the nine, cashing the A-K of clubs and ruffing a club in his hand to produce this position:

Now declarer plays the A-x of spades, hoping a favorable situation will develop. As it happens, West wins with the king and, let's say, returns the queen of diamonds. Declarer ruffs with the king, discarding his ten of spades, and though he later loses a trump trick he makes the contract.

But note that West can defeat the contract by returning a low trump in the diagramed position. South wins with the eight, returns to dummy with a trump, but is then forced to lead a spade. East takes the jack, West shedding a club, and West scores the setting trick with the queen of trumps when East leads the queen of clubs.

Abby

hinting is poor taste

DEAR ABBY: If a girl is single and free to date, has a child,, and a fellow wants to take her out, should the fellow pay for the babysitter? Or should the gal pay for it herself? In this case, the girl has limited funds, and the man is aware that she has a child.

Should she just drop a hint, or come right out and say, "I'm sorry. I can't go out this evening because I can't afford a sitter," and then wait for him to offer or what?

I feel that if a man can afford to date a girl, he should consider the sitter a part of the expense of dating, right?

SHORT OF MONEY

DEAR SHORT: Paying the sitter should be the mother's responsibility. If the gentleman offers to pay for the sitter, fine, but anything resembling a "hint" would be in poor taste.

DEAR ABBY: I am in my early 20s and have been married for five years. Neither my husband nor I wants children. We do not like children, and we do not need them. Ever since we have been married all I have heard from the community is "When are you going to have children?" I am so sick and tired of hearing this asinine and rude question that I could scream. I am beginning to feel as tho I should have been a salmon — a simple creature that lives only to spawn and then die. That is the way most people seem to regard young married women.

Well, I have news for them! I am perfectly happy with my life as it is. I have no desire or "urge" to have children. I have a good job that makes me feel needed and useful. I feel as tho I am doing my part for mankind in earning my own support and doing a much needed job. And if those nosy people think that I'm missing the "joy" of supporting children, just let them look at my tax bills. I'm busy enough supporting children of those people who don't have enough sense to use birth control. I don't need any more bills.

I'm no dope — I have a good mind, and I contribute as much to the working force as any man, and I think that if that is enough for my satisfaction, it should satisfy the old biddies in the community.

So, please, Dear Abby, tell these rude and insensitive people to stop trying to make a girl feel useless unless she has a dozen kids trailing behind her. I am useful and feminine as any mother (more than most) and I intend to stay that way. The doldrums of childraising are not for me. Give me a challenging and rewarding business career any day!

SIGNED: SMART— NOT SENTIMENTAL

DEAR SMART. You've already told 'em. But good!

Costume Jewelry

It's easy to "fall" into the mood of natural elegance wearing the fashion jewelry that has the pedigreed charm to blend with the uncontrived, classic beauty in every woman's wardrobe right now. The reappearance of the dress, the neutrality of monotone colors, simple lines and basic shapes need the sophistication of beautiful, well-designed fashion jewelry for their final perfection.

Pendants lead the way, and diversified they can be. A stunning array of imaginative motifs adapts them to every elegant refrain, while skillful mechanics assure their wearability. Varying chain lengths and flexible, well-fitting neckwear that stay put allow pendants to be grouped to achieve a layered look corresponding to fashion styles. And despite the handsome massiveness, these newest fall pendants have plastic bases, not metal, so are the lightest, most comfortable pieces of jewelry to wear.

Now for the tantalizing details—

Pendant diplomacy recognizes the purist concept in the Chinese influence through jade and ivory looks; the ornamentation of Russian architecture in "onion top" imitations; the mysticism, sun-drenched color and glory of gold that was ancient Egypt and is contemporary still; the newer contemporary of geometric and swirling designs in a combination of gold, silver tones, and black silver tones. Pendants pass on the ecology message with ivory that fakes it and still leaves the big, bold bwana chic intact. This "ivory" becomes civilized with silver, tame with pewter accents. A fashion message is hidden in a shell, the boldly designed tortoise shell. The primaries, red, green, yellow, go madly plaid in a cut of glass effect that uses color for boldness. Wood tones showing a carved surface are rich and adventuresome set against a harmonizing golden finish and left to explore the world of fall as great hanging pendants. Matching bracelets, rings, pins and earings are envoys that, with these pendants, offer a fashion-reaching jewelry policy with unlimited imagination.

The fashion finishes that join their metalic glints to the autumnal splendor are as gypsy bright as the season. Silver and pewter are up-and-coming favorites with a "white metal" caste. But gold and silver both get a new look that has the soft hand of velvet about it, extremely appealing to the eye and lovely to pin on. Polished gold lights up the

Committee Will Begin Collecting Data On Improving Life In Nebraska

By PATRICIA KOZA
Star Staff Writer

Members of a new statewide committee aimed at "understanding the basis of Nebraska's needs and problems" will be collecting opinions from every corner of the state in the next few months to determine how the committee will meet its goal.

The Nebraska Committee for the Humanities, which held its first meeting earlier this month, is working with a planning grant of up to $25,000 from the National Endowment for the Humanities to draw up a plan of action.

According to Dr. Robert Manley of Lincoln, the Nebraska historian who is the project's planning director, the committee's objective is "to bring the academic humanists (philosphers, historians, etc.) in contact with the adult public of Nebraska to the end of understanding the basis of Nebraska's needs and problems."

Nebraska is one of 37 states so far that have been invited to participate in the program, Dr. Manley said. Others in the area are Wyoming, South Dakota, Colorado, Kansas and Iowa.

If full funding is granted in the spring, he said, the committee's job will be to allocate the federal funds on a matching basis to local institutions or groups with program ideas. The 50-50 matching fund arrangement will "insure the community has a commitment to the program as well as the federal government," he said.

"There are no specific projects involved as yet," he said. "The planning committee first of all must hold meetings across the state for the purpose of bringing adults and academic humanists together to talk about what might be done in Nebraska to meet our general objectives."

To that end, he said, the committee members will begin conducting small meetings in their communties to discuss the direction the project should take. He said that approach is a departure from the procedure other states have used.

Manley reiterated the committee's long-term objective was "to help people understand issues and problems as a requisite to successful problem-solving.

"We're not in that sense concerned about action or specific objectives, but rather helping people in Nebraska examine attitudes for the successful solving of problems."

He said the committee feels the most important advantage of the program is "it will be a Nebraska program with a minimum of federal guidelines

"Insofar as it is indicated it could maie long-range contributions to the quality of life in Nebraska, "we're free to go in any direction we choose."

The original 11-member planning committee has decided to expand to 18 members, although two of the appointments have not yet been confirmed, Dr. Manley said. The next meeting of the full committee will be Oct. 26.

The committee members are Wayne Sate College President William A. Brandenburg, chairman; Ed Janike, director of the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education; Dr. Robert Apostol of Omaha's Creighton University; Charles J. Harrington, dean of the Chadron State College School of Humanities; William Utley, dean of the University of Nebraska School of Continuing Studies; Mimi Waldbaum of Omaha, president of the Nebraska League of Women Voters; Adam C. Breckinridge, UN-Lincoln professor; Clifford T. Hanson, Dana College professor; attorney Joseph C. Tye of Kearney; UN-Omaha Professor Ralph Wardle; Laura Berge of Lisco; Mrs. Harley Cole of Minden; Mrs. William S. Colwell of Hay Springs; Mrs. Larry Hoty of McCook; Arlen Miles of O'Neill; and Verne Moseman of Grand Island.

The remaining two members will be named upon their confirmation, he said.

Meeting Slated

A recruitment meeting for boys at least 8 years old or in the third grade has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Crestwood Christian Church by Cub Scout Pack 29, which serves the Ruth Pyrtle School area.

LegislativeCommitteeStudies Rules Of The Road Proposal

By The Associated Press

A Legislative Study Committee Tuesday began a page-by-page review of a massive proposal for "rules of the road" for Nebraska drivers.

The proposed revisions would write into law a series of driving regulations and standards, covering such items as right turns on red lights, stop signs and lights, and vehicle registration.

The 1971 Legislature was presented a review of the rules of the road but deferred any action until a further study could be made of the matter.

The proposal under review currently by the rules of the road study committee was prepared by Ralph Nelson, Lincoln attorney.

State Patrol Supt. Col. J. E. Kruger urged the committee that any statute revisions should include adequate protection to permit the patrol, for law enforcement purposes, to be able to speedily identify vehicles and their owners.

Crowder Picks Kansas State As Big Eight 'Surprise

. . . BIG PLAYMAKER MISSING FROM COLORADO TEAM BUT 'SECRET WEAPON' MAY BE KICKER

Boulder, Colo. — If you want to try reading between the lines a little of what Colorado football coach Eddie Crowder told the Big Eight Skywriters as he observed his 41st birthday here, you might reach the following conclusions:

His choice to win the Big Eight championship and probably the national championship would be Oklahoma; his own Buffs may be lacking one important ingredient; and the biggest danger to the Big Eight's Big Three of Nebraska, Oklahoma and Colorado may come from the Little Five of Kansas State, Iowa State, Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma State.

"This conference has the potential to produce another national champion," he believes. "But all the teams below the upper half are vastly improved and there's the danger that any of the lower five from a year ago might beat one of the top three."

K-State Surprise Team

Crowder, who a year ago told the Skywriters he thought Iowa State would be the surprise team of the Big Eight, this year puts Kansas State in that category.

"If Nebraska, Oklahoma or Colorado have anything less than a superb effort on the day they play the other teams," Crowder points out, "they could be beaten."

Dwelling individually on the Big Three, Crowder feels Nebraska "had quite a number of questions unanswered. And one of them is a psychological problem of how the players will react to this being coach Bob Devaney's last year.

"They could either figure he's been a great guy and decide to win for him or they could figure well, he's not going to be back next year, so we can slough off a little.

"Nebraska also lost several excellent players starting with a great quarterback." But Crowder doesn't put the quarterback a spot in the question-mark category for the Huskers.

"I have spent quite a bit of time around David Humm (Crowder tried to recruit the Nebraska quarterback) and I think he has the ability to step in and do the job for Nebraska," Crowder says.

Step Ahead Of Most

Crowder also figures, "David Humm is one of those young fellows who is a step ahead of the average young man in maturity.

"But without Tagge and Brownson, Nebraska has to sacrifice one thing. They've to sacrifice consistency."

But the big plus for the Huskers is their defense, Crowder believes. "Last year, their offense was only third in the league in yards gained per play," he points out.

"But their defense allowed only 3.2 yards per play and that defense made the big plays for them and scored points for them."

Turning to Oklahoma, Crowder analyzes, "Oklahoma has the most exceptional talent of any team I know of. And I don't think they've got a problem at quarterback.

"I look for Dave Robertson to step in there and be an excellent quarterback for them. Oklahoma looks like it has most of the cards in its hand."

Great Consistency, But . . .

Of his own Colorado team, the Buffs coach says they'll be a team with greater consistency than a year ago, "but I don't know if we've got as much talent after losing the likes of Clifford Branch, Herb Orvis and Carl Taibi.

"The one important thing I don't see on our team yet is the big playmaker such as Branch was. Rich Glover and Johnny Rodgers are the big play people for Nebraska.

"And Oklahoma has Greg Pruitt, Joe Wylie and Lucous Selmon in that category.

"Until a few years ago, you could win the national championship if you had sound players at every position.

"Now, you not only need the sound players, but you also need a couple of big play guys."

Crowder says he had two who he thought might fill that big play role in tackle Bubby Bridges and tight end J. V. Cain, but both were lost this fall over scholastic technicialities

Johnson, Davis Return

But the Buffs do have a veteran quarterback returning in Ken Johnson and they've got last year's sophomore back of the year Charlie Davis returning.

In addition, the offensive line is back intact and Crowder points out, "We've got our secret weapon in our Chilean placekicker, Fred Lima."

Lima has kicked a 62-yard field goal in practice and has booted one from 57 yards out with a rush coming at him.

Lima doesn't lack for confidence, Crowder points out. "When we got everybody together for the first time this fall," Crowder recalls, "we had each of the new players get up, give their name, their position and sing a song.

"Fred got up and said, 'My name ees Fred Lema and I am your keeker.' Then at practice one day, our defensive coaches asked Fred to go through some tackling drills just in case he had to make a tackle on a kickoff return.

"Fred said, 'Okay, coach, I weel do it, but it eesn't going to be necessary.' "

SPITZ WINS THIRD GOLD MEDAL

Neilson, Babashoff Beat Australia's Shane Gould

. . . U.S. BASKETBALL TEAM WINS

MUNICH (UPI)—Mark Spitz extended his Olympic gold medal and world swimming record streak to three Tuesday when he won the 200-meter freestyle but Shane Gould of Australia saw her dream of a record gold harvest vanish in the 100-meter freestyle.

Spitz, the 22-year-old native of Carmichael, Calif., who some call the greatest swimmer in history, reinforced that argument when he won the 200-meter freestyle in 1:52.8, rallying on the final turn to best teammate Steve Genter of Lakewood, Calif.

Miss Gould came to these Olympics with the idea of winning five individual golds and one other in the relays, but Sandra Neilson of El Monte, Calif., swimming the best race of her career, put the dream to rest when she came on to win the 100 freestyle in the Olympic record time of 58.6 seconds.

Shirley Babashoff of Fountain Valley, Calif., thought to be America's best in the event, finished second in 59 flat and Miss Gould, who won the world record time Monday, was third in 59.1.

In all, the United States picked up seven swimming medals Tuesday and increased its Games total in that sport alone to 13.

In other events, the Yank waterpolo team scored its third victory without a loss, freestyle wrestlers won three of five early matches, and three of five rowing crews advanced to the semi-finals through high placings in repechage heats.

The U. S. basketball team, which has won 57 games in a row and is seeking its eighth Olympic gold medal, crushed Cuba 67-48.

Italy's Angelo Scalazone won the trap shooting gold medal when he had a world record 199 hits in 200 shots; the U. S. failed to advance a man through the first round of men's foil fencing, and boxer Reggie Jones of Newark, N.J., was beaten by the Russian European champ in a controversial fight that saw West German fans shower the ring with garabage and yell for the officials' scalps.

There were two other swimming finals on Tuesday's program. Roland Matthes of East Germany successfully defended his Olympic 100-meter backstroke title with a Games record 56.6 clocking in one and Beverlay Whitfield of Australia, who couldn't believe she was the winner, took the women's 200-meter breaststroke in the Games record time of 2:41.7 in the other.

Genter's time in the 200 freestyle was 1:53.7 and Werner Lampe of West Germany was third in 1:54.0.

Mike Stamm of San Diego, Calif., was second to Matthes in the 100 back in 57.7 and John Murphy of Hinsdale, Ill., was third in 58.3.

Dana Schoenfield of Anaheim, Calif., picked up America's seventh medal of the day when she finished second to Miss Whitfield in the 200 breast in 2:42.0. Galina Stepanova of Russia, the big favorite in the race and the leader after three touches, wound up third in 59.1.

Genter made a strong race of it against Spitz and was ahead of Mark until they touched for the last time. As they came up for the run home, Spitz was in front by a couple of strokes and he kept the margin the rest of the way.

"I passed a milestone in my career Monday," Spitz said. "With my victory Tuesday I have broken 31 world records. Now, I think I can relax."

Genter's strong showing in some ways was more impressive than Spitz' victory. Only four days before the race he was in bed with a collapsed lung and doctors were saying he had little or no chance of competing.

"They were pessimistic, but I wasn't." Genter said. "Now, I do feel a little tired.

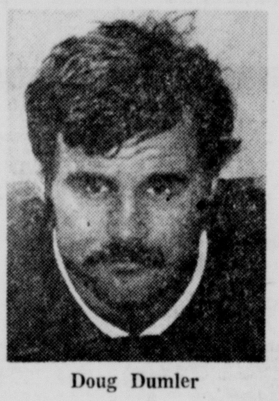
Meanwhile, flyweight James Carr of Erie, Pa., and featherweight Gene Davis of Oklahoma City, Okla., were beaten. Carr stands 1-1-1 and Davis is 1-0-2.

—DEVANEY EVALUATES INJURIES—

Dumler, Janssen Will Serve As 1972 Husker Co-Captains

By MARK GORDON
Star Sports Writer

After snapping one precedent in the Bob Devaney era at Nebraska, Doug Dumler and Bill Janssen hope to guide the Huskers to another precedent — a third straight national collegiate football championship.



Doug Dumler

Bill Janssen

The Tuesday election by squad members of center Dumler and defensive tackle Janssen marked the first season in Devaney's 11 Husker campaigns that co-captains have not come from either the offensive or defensive backfield.

"It's a tremendous honor and it adds a little more responsibility for me," said Dumler, who becomes the first center to captain a Devaney-coached offensive unit since Lyle Sittler in 1964.

"When I was a rookie I always looked up to (captains) Dan Schneiss and Jerry Murtaugh and last year to Jerry Tagge," the senior from Melrose Park, Ill. said. "Especially to the younger players, who look up to the captains, it's a great honor."

Although Dumler said all the other seniors would have been excellent choices, he noted that Devaney told the squad before the voting that only one offensive and defensive player could be named co-captains.

Dumler, a two-year letterman was sidelined during the 1969 season with knee surgery is no stranger to Janssen. He served as best man in the Grand Forks, N.D. resident's wedding in Lincoln in December of 1970.

"I'm sure Bill agrees with me that keeping the team unified isn't much of a problem," he added. "We play together on and off the field — unity will be no problem."

Janssen offered: "It's a shame all our seniors couldn't be captains every week, but it's a pat-on-the-back to be chosen.

"You really don't have to be an inspiration, but a leader in helping the guys together more than they already are," Janssen said. "There's so much unity on this team."

Janssen, like Dumler — missed a season. The 6-3 230-pound senior sat out the 1970 campaign with a broken arm.

In viewing the pressure of seeking a third consecutive national crown, Janssen said Nebraska players "rise to the occasion."

"Maybe there's a little more pressure since it's the third time," he said. "But I'm sure when the time comes, we'll be playing excellent football."

Meanwhile, Devaney was surveying the Huskers' injury status before a scheduled Wednesday afternoon scrimmage. The Huskers have completed two-a-day drills.

"We're going to have to sit down and evaluate our injury situation (Wednesday morning) — we can't afford to lose another quarterback," he said.

David Humm, will not participate in Wednesday's mini-scrimmage and is a doubtful starter in Saturday's full-scale scrimmage, Devaney said. The Husker boss said Humm has spent several days in the University's Student Health Center with a "charley horse" in his right leg sustained in last Saturday's scrimmage.

"By no means, is it a minor injury," Devaney said. "It's the same thing that Tagge had before our 1970 game with USC (Southern California in Los Angeles)".

Steve Ruunty will work with the first unit during Humms' absence with Terry Luck directing the second group and Dana Potter guiding the third team.

Other Huskers Devaney termed "doubtful" for Wednesday's workout included offensive tackle Al Austin (arch injury), tight end Brent Longwell, I-back Don Westbrook, (who reinjured a sprained ankle on Tuesday) and safety Bob Thornton, who ran with the squad Tuesday morning.

Grand Island junior Randy Butts, bidding for an I-back spot, has quit the squad.

Fisher Wins Nebraska PGA Sectional Golf Crown

By STEVE GILLISPIE
Star Sports Writer

Although this is the first year he is eligible, Jerry Fisher figures he's waited a long time for his latest achievement.

The Lincoln Country Club pro had a 76 Tuesday at Hillcrest Country Club to win the Nebraska PGA Sectional Golf Tournament with a two-day total of 144. Fisher led after the first round at Holmes Park by two strokes.

For his efforts, Fisher earned $500 and qualified for the National Club Professionals Championship set for late October at Pinehurst, N.C. and also for the National PGA Tournament next year.

Fisher only took over the head professional job at Lincoln Country Club earlier this year when Bud Williamson Sr., retired. He had been an assistant pro to Williamson prior to Williamson's retirement.

"I've been working for a golf golf shop since I was 14 and I've known these pros a long time," Fisher said.

"It's just a privilege to belong to the PGA, let alone belong able to win one of their tournaments," he added. "The two PGA meets I've qualified for will really give me something to look forward to."

In contrast to Monday's opening round when four golfers bettered par, no one broke par on the 6,778 yard Hillcrest course.

Jack Hoskins, the Grand Island Riverside Golf Course pro, recorded the best round at Hillcrest with a one-over-par 73. That score propelled Hoskins from a tie for sixth into third place and earned him $250.

Bud Williamson Jr., fired a 75 and moved from fourth to second, to earn $350. The Hastings Lochland Country Club pro finished at 146.

Omaha Happy Hollow pro John Frillman was fourth at 149 earning $150, Omaha Country Club pro Bob Popp was fifth at 150 earning $100 and Sidney Hilltop Golf Course pro Carl Faddis was sixth at 151 earning $50.

The top eight finishers also qualified for the Nebraska Cup Match Championship next year, the meet which pits the pros against the state's best amateurs.

Most of the players agreed that the pin placement made the course "play as tough as it can be."

"The pin placements were very good, but I was hitting the ball everywhere," Fisher said. "The only birdie I made all day was on No. 2 and I made a chip shot there.

"It probably would have looked better if everyone could have shot about the same scores as we did Monday, but I'm just glad I was able to play well enough to win," he said.

Fisher is the sixth pro to win the 19-year-old tournament.

Barr Sets Record

By Associated Press

Jim Barr pitched his way into the major league baseball record books Tuesday night by retiring the first 20 batters in the San Francisco Giants' 3-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. He had retired the last 21 batters to face him last Wednesday so his total is 41 straight.

Harvey Haddix held the old mark of 38 straight retired batters. In 1959, he pitched a 12-inning perfect game and had retired two straight in his previous contest for a total of 38.

In other National League games, Pittsburgh beat San Diego 5-3, New York topped Cincinnati 5-0, Houston edged Philadelphia 2-1, Chicago trimmed Los Angeles 2-1 and Montreal stopped Atlanta 4-3.

In the American League, it was Baltimore 9, Minnesota 4; Boston 3, Chicago 0; Kansas City 6, Milwaukee 4, and New York split a doubleheader with Texas with the Yankees taking the first 7-6 and the Rangers winning the second 7-4.

Bobby Grich hit a grand slam home run and a triple to drive in five runs for Baltimore. Harmon Killebrew hit his 536th homer to tie him with former Yankee Mickey Mantle for fourth on the all-time homer list. Bobby Darwin also homered for the Twins.

Luis Tiant pitched his third straight shutout for Boston as he limited the White Sox to just five hits. Reggie Smith drove in two Red Sox runs with two doubles.

Kansas City got 10 singles in the second and third innings to score six runs. Roger Nelson, 8-4, got his sixth straight victory for the Royals. George Scott hit his 14th homer for Milwaukee. Joe Lahoud also homered for the Brewers.

Bert Campaneris knocked in the only run of the game and Jim "Catfish" Hunter and Darold Knowles pitched Oakland back into first place in the American League West with a combined three-hitter as the A's beat the Cleveland Indians 1-0.

LHS Football Slate One Of 'Most Representative' In State

By RANDY YORK
Prep Sports Writer

After only one week of practice, new Lincoln High football coach Jerry Ball still isn't sure about a lot of things.

But he is certain of one thing. The Links will play one of the state's most representative football schedules this fall.

"We couldn't have scheduled a better cross section," says Ball. "I don't know how many games we'll win, but we'll get around."

The Links, Class A state champions three seasons ago, play two West Big 10 Conference teams, two East Big 10 clubs and an Omaha team in addition to their regular Capital City schedule.

"None of them will be easy," says Ball. "All of our non-city opponents are supposed to be tough this fall."

The former Omaha Tech assistant makes his debut Sept. 8 against Lincoln Pius X, then travels to Scottsbluff and meets Hastings before battling defending state champion Lincoln East, Northeast and Southeast in succession.

The well-traveled Links will finish the season at North Platte, at home against Omaha Westside and at Grand Island.

"Show me a breather," says Ball, "and I'll show you someone who hasn't been around."

North Platte is the West Big 10 favorite and Hastings is viewed by many to have the best East Big 10 club. Westside, points out Ball, is always among the Metro's best teams.

Ball, the former Kearney State College guard who coached at Wayne and served as a Grand Island assistant for two years each, believes the Links will be ready to meet the challenge of such a rugged schedule.

"Our attitude and leadership have been outstanding," says Ball, who had 11 of the Links' 13 lettermen survive the first week of practice.

"We don't have any speed and we don't have any size," he concedes, "but we are a little long on spirit."

Of the 31 players Ball has placed on his varsity squad, only one, Mike Fultz, fits into the 200-pound category.

The 6-5, 235-pound senior was an all-city selection at center last year. He finished the season at fullback and will start there again this fall in Ball's "belly" offense.

"He's a little behind since he reported late," Ball says of Fultz, "but he's been impressive so far." Fultz also is the Links' starting rover back on defense.

Ball, who coached at Tech six years before accepting the Lincoln High job last spring, also has been impressed with the quarterbacking of senior Bob Folsom.

"He's been the real determining factor so far," Ball says of the city's only returning quarterback starter. "I'd hate to think where we'd be without him."

Center Ron Galusha and ends Jerry Meyers and Mark Linke also have come in for praise from Ball in early workouts. Linke is a non-letterman senior.

Ball, assisted by ex-Nebraska player Marv Mueller, believes his tackle situation, manned by lettermen Jon Weddle and Al Lyons, may be the Links' strongest position. Only one sophomore is on the varsity team.

Ball's temporary starting lineups include:

Offense — Galusha, center; Mick Damian and Dana Kinnan, guards; Weddle and Lyons, tackles; Meyers and Linke, ends; Folsom, quarterback; Dave Fen and Bob Terwilliger, halfbacks; Fultz, fullback.

Defense — Fen, middle guard; Weddle and Galusha, tackles; Gerald Kletchka and Meyers, ends; Lloyd Dennis and Damian, linebackers; Kinnan, Folsom and Bill Venhaus, deep backs; Fultz, rover.

Fairgrounds Sets Records

Ten records were established at the Fairgrounds racing plant during the recently concluded 30-day meeting.

Two marks involved tax payments to the State of Nebraska. Thestate received $267,019.40 in taxes from wageingr and $17,962 from taxes on admissions. That totals $284,981.40, far above the previous high of $224,712.38 paid a year ago.

The total wager was $7,675,485, averaging $255,849 daily, both records. The track paid $441,866.60 in purse monies to winners, still another record.

The horses contributed their share to the record books. Recores were set in the mile, 1-mile and 70 yards, 1-mile and 1-furlong and 1-mile and 1-16ths.

Swift Capture, a 5-year-old horse owned by Mr. and Ms. Ed Nickolite of Monroe, set two makrs — the mile and 70 and one-mile, running those distances in 1:42 1-5th, and 1:37.

alnd 1-furlong record in 1:52 1-5th and Great Pumpkin did the mile and 1-16th in 1:46 3-5th.

Fred Ecoffey established a recod for winning rides — 52.

Injuries Sideline Three Cyclones

Ames, Iowa (AP) — Iowa State University defensive tackle Henry Lewis may miss the Cyclones first three football games, coach Johnny Majors said here Tuesday.

Lewis, a 6-3, 284-pound starting right tackle, is reported suffering from bone chips in his right ankle. ISU trainer Frank Randall said Lewis should be ready for Iowa State's first conference game at Colorado Oct. 14.

Two other Cyclones, fullback Neil Shellabarger and defensive tackle Paul Ridder, also willl be sidelined a week to ten days, Majors said. Shellabarger is nursing a knee injury and Ridder has a broken finger.

Chess Match Adjourns, Said Headed For Draw

Heykjavik, Iceland (UPI) — Boris Spassky and Bobby Fischer Tuesday night adjourned their 20th game of the World Chess Championship on the 41st move with Fischer "playing for a draw."

In a game grandmasters called "one of the dullest yet," Spassky, playing black, bent under the table to write down his 41st move and sealed it to be opened at resumption of play at 5 p.m. (noon CDT) Wednesday.

Fischer holds a three-point advantage over the world champion with 11 points to Spassky's eight. Fischer needs 12-½ points to take the title from the Russian.

A sparse crowd attended the 20th game of the 24-game, $250,000 match and many of the grandmasters yawned in the corridor as play quickly developed into the same Sicilian defense the two have played four times previously.

5 OSU Veterans Battle For Tackle

Stillwater, Okla. (UP) — Oklahoma State coach Dave Smith likes competition among his players and is getting just that as five veterans battle for two defensive tackle spots.

Gilbert Barns, a two-year starter before missing last season with an injury, holds an edge over Randell Jones, a junior letterman and Barry Price, a starter a year ago, for the left tackle spot.

Jimmy Williams, a regular last year, holds a slim lead over Jay Crews, a regular defensive end last year at right tackle.

Fairbanks Upset Over OU's Drills

Norman, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma football coach Chuck Fairbanks was less than pleased after his squad's Tuesday practice.

"We didn't have a very good practice today," said the coach. "Right now we're not a very good football team. As a matter of fact, we are a long ways from it."

Senior defensive tackle Derland Moore missed the practice with a charley horse and Oklahoma trainer Ken Rawlinson said he should be back for Wednesday's practice.

Second team fullback Tom Welch was also absent from practice. He is sidelined with a pulled hamstring.

Fambrough Pleased With KU Workouts

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — After a two-hour workout by the Kansas football squad Tuesday, Coach Don Fambrough said it was "one of our better practices."

"If we leave the field a better team than we were when we came on, then we had a good practice," he added. "I think I can definitely say this was the case today."

Cyclones' Caratelli Skips Contact Drills

Ames, Iowa (AP) — The Iowa State Cyclones went through their hottest day yet as they resumed two-a-day practice sessions here Monday.

Starting linebacker Ken Caratelli was withheld from contact drills Monday because of an inflammation of a leg injury he suffered in the San Diego State game last year. Cyclone trainer Frank Randall said Caratelli would probably also be held out of contact drills Tuesday and Wednesday.

Controversial Envoy To France Resigns Job

San Clemente, Calif. (AP) — Arthur K. Watson has resigned as U.S. ambassador to France, citing reasons of health, the Western White House said Tuesday.

The former IBM executive had held the key diplomatic post since April 16, 1970, and told President Nixon in a letter dated Aug. 16 that the Paris climate has aggravated his asthma.

He asked that the resignation be made effective shortly after Labor Day, and Nixon granted his wish in a letter praising "distinguished service."

Nixon did not say when he would name a successor.

Besides serving as the site for the semi-private, as well as private Vietnam peace talks, Paris was designated by Nixon go the liaison site with Chinese diplomatic officials.

"You have been a superb representative to our oldest ally and friend, bringing to your postion an uncommon understanding and profound appreciation for the importance of ties between the two countries," Nixon said in the letter to Watson.

Watson, a major contributor to Nixon's 1968 presidential campaign, was involved in a controversy several months ago after columnist Jack Anderson reported that he had been drunk and disorderly on a commercial transatlantic flight — an accusation that Watson denied.

Anderson, in the March article, said Watson got "gloriously drunk" on a flight from Paris to Washington shortly after he had been given the delicate job of establishing diplomatic contacts with the Communist Chinese in Paris.

He wrote that Watson had a chronic "liquor problem" and that it could spoil the detente between the Chinese and the United States that followed President Nixon's trip to Peking.

Roger D. Borland Is Named Judge In Colorado

Denver (AP) — Roger D. Borland, 34-year-old Steamboat Spingrs lawyer, was appointed Tuesday by Gov. John Love to be Routt County judge.

He will assume the post Jan. 9, succeeding Judge Eugene Steele, who is retiring.

Borland is a native of Lincoln, Neb., and holds degrees from the University of Nebraska and the University of Denver College of Law.

Bids Opened On Home Economics Building At NU

Olson Construction Co. of Lincoln was apparent low bidder for the general construction contract at bid openings Tuesday for a new University of Nebraska Home Economics Building on the East Campus.

Olson submitted a bid of $789,456, according to the NU purchasing office.

An apparent low of $244,000 for the mechanical contract was submitted by W. R. Lesoing of Lincoln. Briteway Electric of Lincoln was the apparent low bidder on the electrical contract at $113,687, and O'Keefe Elevator of Omaha had the apparent low elevator bid of $18,888.

The bids will be reviewed and a recommendation made at the September board of regents meeting.

Mrs. Irving Barred

New York (UPI) — A state Supreme Court justice barred Edith Irving, wife of author Clifford Irving, from leaving the country until she testified in court about her assets.

R. Archbold Gets City Editor Post At Miami Herald

Miami (UPI)—Richard Archibold, a native of Lombard, Ill., former United Press International newsman in Lincoln, Neb., has been named city editor of the Miami Herald.

Archbold, 34, served as a reporter on the Omaha World-Herald before joining the Florida newspaper.

He has been the Herald's government editor.

Three Nominated For Judgeship

The Second District Judicial Nominating Commission has made three recommendations to Gov. J. J. Exon to fill the vacancy created by the death of District Judge Victor Schmidt.

Exon said Tuesday the commission recommended Eugene Atkinson of Papillion, Raymond J. Case of Plattsmouth and Mrs. Betty Peterson Sharp of Nebraska City.

The governor is to make his selection from among the trio.

Introduction Set

Chicago (UPI) — Admiral Corp. said it will introduce its Catrivision VTR color television to the consumer market in early September.

Two Burglaries Are Investigated

Two burglaries were being investigated Tuesday by police.

A .22-rifle, valued at $125, and a 12-gauge shotgun were taken from the James W. Childress residence at 4310 So. 49th.

Police also said that approximately $170 was taken from a cash register at Davison's American Showcase Furniture Store at 70th and Van Dorn.

Officers said there was no sign of a forced entry at the store.

Complex Set Up

Moscow (AP) — A "Feodor Dostoevski memorial complex," including a house where the Russian novelist once lived and several streets, will be established in Staraya Russia, the official Tass news agency reported.

Labor Day Driving Care Urged

In a pre-Labor Day warning, Dr. Frank Colon of the Nebraska Medical Association's medical services committee, urged young drivers to "remember that the injuries that result from accidents can cause a lifetime of misery for the victim and his family."

He said, "Please remember the tremendous potential for your young lives that can be thrown away in the fraction of a second that it takes for an auto accident. Through injury or death, the possible productivity of the future is erased. The great investment that has been made in bringing your lives to this point of maturity has been cancelled out."

He said he issued the message because he feels too many young drivers don't seem to care about the potential for themselves that they waste through accidents, and that many drivers don't seem to be concerned about the drastic consequences for others brought on by accidents which they cause.

Flemish Are Threatened

Mechelen, Belgium (UPI) — Fire blazed through parts of the 13th century Rombouts Cathedral, threatening Flemish masterpieces housed inside before firemen, some from as far away as Brussels and Antwep, could control the flames.

FUNK & WAGNALLS NEW ENCYCLOPEDIA

Before you buy anything as important as an encyclopedia, you should take it home and live with it for a while.

But the only way you can do that with most encyclopedias is by buying the entire set.

Not with the Funk & Wagnalls New Encyclopedia.

Come in and buy the first volume for only 49¢. If you like it, you can buy the remaining 26 volumes (including index and bibliography), a volume or two a week. For only $1.99 each.

Naturally, this makes buying an encyclopedia easier. It also makes not buying it easier. When you sell an encyclopedia this way, it has to be good enough to keep people coming back for more.

It is.

The Funk & Wagnalls New Encyclopedia is the work of over 500 scholars, including many Pulitzer and Nobel Prize winners.

It has over 7,000 illustrations—including a full-color World Atlas.

It's bound in sturdy, elegant covers to resist the ravages of time and children.

It's not only thoroughly up-to-date, but provisions have been made for you to keep it that way.

Funk & Wagnalls publishes annual yearbooks which you can buy to keep your set as new as it is now.

It's written in clear, simple English. (The Funk & Wagnalls is a family encyclopedia. It's designed to help children keep up with schoolwork, and parents keep up with children.)

And it contains as many indexed entries as encyclopedias costing hundreds of dollars more.

In fact, the only thing you don't get with the Funk & Wagnalls is a salesman. It's sold direct to you through us.

So come in and try a little low-pressure salesmanship on yourself.

If the salesman in you wins, the consumer in you will be richer for it.

SAFEWAY

SAFEWAY . . . A BETTER PLACE TO SAVE

Labor Day Outing Safety Urged

Gov. J. J. Exon has urged parents to make sure the enthusiasm of their youngsters is channeled into safe outlets during lake outings.

The governor said care should be taken at all times, but especially with the approach of the Labor Day weekend.

Nebraska's park and recreation areas attract thousands seeking outdoor fun each weekend. But the concentration increases over holidays and the chances of accidents increase correspondingly.

The state's safety record in regard to recreation accidents away from the water has been good, but Nebraskans should keep up their vigilance if the trend is to continue.

Exhuberant children at play are especially vulnerable to land-based accidents. They tend to forget traffic moving through an outdoor recreation area and may bolt into the path of a car, Exon said.

Youngsters should be warned of the hazards, he said, and parents should make sure their warnings are heeded.

No Study Of Metropolitan Omaha School System Problems Seen This Year

By The Associated Press

There apparently will not be any study of the problems of the schools in metropolitan Omaha this year, a legislative study committee decided Tuesday.

After two hours of debate during which members of the interim study committee set up to look into the school system complained about lack of staff, funds, and guidelines, a motion was adopted 6-0 to ask the Legislative Council for funds to conduct the study.

It is considered unlikely that such funds will be forthcoming.

Tuesday's meeting followed in the wake of a committee meeting three weeks ago during which members complained about the absence of Sen. David Stahmer of Omaha, sponsor of the resolution authorizing the study, and Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha, a committee member and frequent critic of Omaha schools.

Stahmer was present Tuesday but Chambers was not. In a letter to Chairman Sen. Don Elrod of Grand Island asking that he be excused, Chambers said he did not favor the study in the first place and added, "I do not think another wasted day in Lincoln can accomplish anything toward understanding the Omaha Public School System."

Chambers was the sponsor in each of the last two sessions of the legislature of bills calling for the election of the Omaha school board by district, rather than at-large as is now done.

The resolution calls only for a study of "all aspects of public education" in "metropolitan Omaha" and was passed by the 1972 Legislature during consideration of one of Chambers' district election bills.

Committee members present Tuesday said the study was too broad and received agreement and sympathy from Stahmer, Frank Williams of the Omaha Education Association, and Barney Geiger, legislative representative for the Omaha school board.

Stahmer said his resolution was not a "delaying tactic" to stall the question of how to elect the school board, as Chambers had charged in his letter.

Sen. Ellen Craft of North Platte questioned why the Omaha senators don't agree on a particular approach beforehand but Sen. Duke Snyder of Omaha said the dozen Omaha area senators "can't agree on anything."

Talk Helps Curb Tide Of Losses

New York (AP) — A speech by the Democratic presidential candidate, Sen. George McGovern, viewed as conciliatory by many on Wall Street, helped moderate a tide of losses in the stock market on Tuesday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks, down nearly seven points earlier in the day, closed at 954.70, down 2.25.

Declines finished with a 773-to-630 lead over advances for the day in moderate trading on the Big Board. The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,400 common stocks rose .09 to 60.74, but the price-change at the American Stock Exchange fell .03 to 26.61.

McGovern's midday speech "didn't really scare that many people," according to Ralph Acampora, director of technical analysis for Harris, Upham & Co. "He laid his cards on the table and kind of cleared the air."

"At least there wasn't anything new of a radical nature," said Eldon A. Grimm of Walston & Co.

Earlier, auto stocks led the market on a downhill road after the Price Commission had rejected price-hike requests by Ford and General Motors. At day's end, Ford was down 1⅛ to 66½, but GM was up ⅛ to 78%. American Motors was off ⅛ ot 9½, but Chrysler recovered from an early decline to close at 31, up ⅛.

Most active Big Board issue was Curtiss-Wright, which climbed 3 to 49⅞ on news that General Motors might offer a Wankel engine option on some cars within about two years. Curtiss-Wright holds North American rights to the Wankel rotary engine.

National General Corp., an insurance, book, and movie diversified, rose 1½ to 32⅜ on news that it planned to merge with Pennsylvania Life.

Other Big Board actives included Continental Oil, up ¼ to 32⅝; Del Monte, up ⅜ to 20⅜; and AT&T, up ¼ to 43¼.

The most-active issue on the American Stock Exchange was Champion Home Builders, up ⅞ to 16⅛. It was followed by National General new warrants, down ⅛ to 7⅜; and Syntex down ⅞ to 82⅝.

American Israeli Paper, which has rights to make the Wankel engine in Israel for use anywhere except in North America, was also active on the Amex, and was up 1⅜ to 14⅜.

Analysts said the market's early decline was partly a reflection of a move to a higher prime interest rate by Bank of America, the country's largest bank, and Manufacturers Hanover Trust, the fourth largest. Both pegged their rate at 5½ per cent.

When Chase Manhattan had done the same last Thursday, the Dow Industrial average responded with a decline of nearly 12 points-ground it has so far been unable to regain.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

Here's How to Work It

One letter simply stands for another in this example, A is used for the three L's X for the two O's etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A X Y D L B A A X R
to L O N G F E L L O W
A Crytogram Quotation

K X M M B K X C H O F H E V D V A T E M B
O H H O B L C A F I A J A O P M K X F K V D
O B D F B S J.—L M I F I T T M B M I R F A

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is six or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
